SALES TAX FIGHT NOW AT CLIMAX

Decision of Four Committee Members May Make or Break Plans

STATE IS WATCHING

White's Future May Depend on Outcome

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Stirring drama will be unfolded and political history will be written in Ohio's placid old statehouse with the re-opening tonight of Governor George White's titanic battle for the sales tax.

"When George White fights, he usually wins," is a correct summarization of the governor's past struggles with the legislature.

Today, however, he faces his first major defeat from the assembly since he took office in January, 1931. Possibly he will win, as always. But there is a possibility that the House taxation committee, although Democratic and although picked by his lieutenants, may kill his sales tax bill outright in a meeting scheduled tonight—may hurl it into oblivion although he has fought for it to the utmost.

The governor's admitted desire to be "promoted" to United States Senator hangs in the balance.

LOBBYISTS FIGHT

Behind the scenes there rages a terrific battle of the lobbyists.

The heaviest sharp-shooting against the sales tax is now being done by a band of Democratic insurgents. Despite the governor's other victories, his friends want to see him win this one at all costs. They fear that defeat would reduce his prestige and his chances of corralling the senatorial nomination.

Jamming the committee room at tonight's meeting, it is expected, will be the always-present lobbyists, for the meeting will be the most crucial one yet held on the sales tax. The administration will make a desperate effort to get the bill voted out with a recommendation for passage.

"Politics," it is said, "makes strange bedfellows." The Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio State Federation of Labor, dropping the old quarrel of capital versus labor, have joined in a mutual fight against the sales tax.

Defending the governor's proposal are the farmers, the educators, the utilities, the highway-builders, and several others.

FOUR UNDECIDED

The element of suspense will be injected when the secretary of the committee calls the names of four members whose attitude on the

Editor Faces Life In Jail

Banks Convicted, Wife Acquitted of Constable's Murder.

EUGENE, Ore., May 22.—Unless Llewellyn A. Banks is granted a new trial, the crusading editor of Jackson-co will be sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder last March 16 of George J. Prescott, Medford, Ore., constable.

Banks was found guilty of second degree murder by a jury of seven men and five women 22 hours after the case was delivered to their hands. His wife, Edith R. Banks, also charged with Prescott's murder, was acquitted.

Judge G. F. Skipworth has no choice in pronouncing sentence as the verdict made life imprisonment mandatory. He deferred sentence pending hearing on motion for new trial and was to sign a formal order today granting Frank J. Lomergan, chief of defense counsel, 30 days to prepare and file the motion.

No flicker of emotion crossed the elderly editor's face as the verdict was read. Mrs. Banks bowed her head and sobbed quietly.

F. D. ORDERS CAMP HUNT EVACUATED

Capital Faces Problem; Those Who Won't Join Forest Army Must Go.

WASHINGTON, May 22. —The bonus army was rapidly developing into a real problem today.

Approximately a thousand destitute veterans who for a week have been supplied by the government with food and quarters were to be "weaned." President Roosevelt has ordered the Fort Hunt, Va., bonus camp set up for the marchers evacuated by noon of all who will not accept his offer of a reforestation job. Breakfast was the last meal served.

Army trucks were waiting to transport those who do not join the forest army from Fort Hunt. Just what the marchers will do when they get here was a question. Police have made no special preparations to handle the veterans, but have announced they would not be allowed to congregate in large groups.

'CAMPS' OPENED

PORTSMOUTH, May 22.—The wooded lands of the Roosevelt game preserve near here echoed with working men today as 212 formerly unemployed Ohioans began planting new trees, removing deadwood and blazing new trails as members of President Roosevelt's reforestation army.

Bronzed and hardened by a period of training at Camp Knox, Ky., the contingent of the Civilian Conservation Corps arrived at the preserve yesterday in automobiles and trucks. Camp was pitched and today the "army," comprising 188 men from Cleveland and 24 from Cincinnati launched into the reforestation work.

The "army" is in charge of Capt. H. B. Hallowell of Philadelphia, and four army officers and four reserve officers.

DELAWARE BLAZE LOSS IS $80,000

DELAWARE, May 22.—Fire of undetermined origin today completely destroyed the building and equipment here of the Denison Engineering Co., makers of ceramic manufacturing machinery.

Raging for five hours before they were brought under control, the flames were estimated to have caused a total loss of $80,000.

The blaze was believed to have started in a shop room of the plant. No evidence was available as to what caused the fire. Police and fire department officials declared, however, that a thorough investigation would be made.

IMMELL ASSUMES GOVERNMENT POST TUESDAY MORNING

Four States Under Supervision of Yellowbud Farmer

SALARY IS $5,000

Chief Agent for Loan Corporation

Robert Immell, Yellowbud farm owner and manager, will assume his duties as agent for the Farm Loan corporation with offices in Louisville, Ky., Tuesday morning. He left his home Monday afternoon.

Mr. Immell's position is considered one of the most important and most sought after in this district. He will supervise four states including Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

As agent he will be one of 12 in the nation each of the others having four states under supervision. He will have power to loan on first mortgage real estate and on second mortgage where there is an equity and also on crops and chattels where real estate is considered.

Loans, over which Mr. Immell has power, will run from one to 10 years with a rate of interest not to exceed five per cent. All applications, he pointed out, must be accompanied by $10 to cover investigation of title and whatever expense is incurred in appraising, etc.

His salary will be $5,000 annually.

BACKED BY LEADERS

Mr. Immell was given the support of both Robert J. Bulkley, U. S. senator, and Mell G. Underwood, representative from this district. He was of the opinion, Monday, that some one even higher than these two solons must have been interested in his appointment because senators and representatives from Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee were supporting men from their states and the power of any of these men should be as great as that of Mr. Bulkley and Mr. Underwood.

It is thought, W. A. Julian, of Cincinnati, recently appointed treasurer, might have been back of Mr. Immell's final selection.

Announcement of the Yellowbud man's appointment was made here several days before it was made in larger cities.

Mr. Immell's appointment to a high government position again gives this vicinity a high official. Renick W. Dunlap, Pickaway-twp, served as assistant director of agriculture in the recent Republican administration.

Mr. Immell's office will be in the Farm Loan bank building.

HUGH W. BRYANT DIES IN WAYNE-TP

Hugh Webster Bryant, aged 57, died at his home in Wayne-twp Monday at 1:50 a. m. of cancer. He had been ill eight months.

Mr. Bryant lived alone along the canal.

He was born in Ross-co a son of Thomas W. and Elizabeth Comer Bryant. He never married.

Surviving are four brothers, Nathaniel, James and Bert of Yellowbud and Charles of Zanesville, and one sister, Mrs. Sophia Goldsberry, Pinckney-st.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at Yellowbud Evangelical church with Rev. C. W. Ruhlman officiating.

Interment will be in Springbank cemetery by M. S. Rinehart. The body will be taken to the home Tuesday morning.

ELKS GATHER AT LODGE HOME HERE

Officers of seven B. P. O. Elks lodges of the district gathered at the local lodge home Sunday afternoon for a conference on lodge problems. Other topics of interest to all the officers were also discussed.

James R. Cooper, Newark, of the rehabilitation committee, was the principal speaker with Dr. J. A. Rockey, of Lancaster, district deputy, also on the program.

Emmitt L. Crist, exalted ruler; Rudolph Gessley, secretary, and Ferd M. Pickens, past exalted ruler, represented the local lodge.

PUPILS HONORED

Winners of eighth grade scholarship tests, in various Ohio counties, have been announced by Ray G. Wood, state director of the tests. In Pickaway-co the following eighth graders won honors; Kenneth Dean, South Bloomfield; Evelyn Gerhardt, Ashville; Dora L. Moore, Tarlton and Cecil Rittenhouse, New Holland.

3 ACCIDENTS ARE REPORTED

Bertie Palm Walks Into Car's Path; Brown Automobile Leaves Road.

Three automobile accidents, none of which proved serious, were reported here over the week-end.

PALM WALKS INTO AUTOMOBILE PATH

Albert 'Bertie' Palm, E. Main-st, suffered minor injuries when he walked into the path of an automobile driven by Homer Davis, Saturday night, on E. Main-st.

Palm was either knocked or fell to the pavement. He was taken to Berger hospital but was immediately discharged.

The automobile stopped within three feet after the accident.

LOWELL BROWN'S AUTO IS DAMAGED

No one was injured late Sunday afternoon when the DeSoto sedan driven by Lowell Brown, Elm-ave, plunged from the roadway between a bridge railing and a fence, and overturned about three miles east of East Ringgold.

Mr. Brown was accompanied by his family but all escaped from the overturned car without even a scratch.

Mr. Brown evidently lost control of the car as he approached the narrow bridge and it swerved between the railing and plunged into the deep ditch.

The top of the car was badly damaged and the front end was slightly damaged. The machine was taken to the Elmer Clifton garage.

ORR AND BROOKS CARS HIT AT SQUARE

Slight damage resulted Sunday evening when the autos of John Orr, W. Main-st barber, and Arthur Brooks, W. Mill-st, collided at Main and Court-sts.

According to reports of the collision the car driven by Brooks was making a left hand turn at the street intersection and the Orr car struck its front right fender.

A bumper was wrenched from the Orr car and the fender was damaged on the Brooks auto.

Insane Farmer Badly Wounds Two, Suicides

OXFORD, Mich., May 22.—Seized with a sudden fit of insanity, Earl Stabler, 45, ran amuck with a hunting rifle here today, critically wounding Mrs. Carrie Shoemaker, 48, and Ernest Judd, 35, before killing himself.

Returning home from a fishing trip, Stabler found that Mrs. Shoemaker, his housekeeper was not on hand to cook his breakfast. Seizing the gun he went to Judd's home where he found Mrs. Shoemaker asleep on a davenport, and Judd and his wife, Florence, sleeping in a bed in the same room.

The madman fired a shot at the bed, hitting Judd. Then he shot Mrs. Shoemaker twice, and fired several times at the walls and windows.

Running into the yard he placed the muzzle of the rifle in his mouth and pulled the trigger.

WORKMAN HURT

Emmitt Brown, E. Mound-st, is in Berger hospital suffering from a torn back muscle he sustained Saturday when he lifted a heavy box at the Cussins and Fearn store, N. Court-st, where he is employed.

FREMONT MAN HEAD OF OHIO EDITORS

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Ross D. McMichael, managing editor of the Fremont Messenger, was elected president of the Blue Pencil Club of Ohio, Sunday, when the organization held its annual meeting in this city. R. M. White, editor of the Millersburg Farmer-Hub, was named vice president, and Norval Neil Luxon, of Ohio State university, secretary-treasurer.

The newspaper workers, all editors of their respective papers, heard talks by Kenneth D. Tooill, editor of the Ohio State Journal; C. H. Harris, managing editor of the Athens Messenger and Paul Reed, managing editor of the Alliance Review.

Glen R. Geib, editor of The Herald, attended the meeting.

Raps F.D.R. Economy

Declaring that "under a young and untried director of the budget," the United States is being reduced to a third class naval power, Senator Arthur Robinson, Republican, of Indiana, assailed President Roosevelt's economy program and Budget Director Lewis Douglas. "Our safety as a nation depends upon our national insurance," Senator Robinson said, "and our national insurance is our national defense."

BANKER MUST FACE CHARGE

Harriman Expected to Leave Hospital; Is Prisoner of Bondsmen.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Recovering from self-inflicted knife wounds and granted a week's continuance in his trial for inspiring false entries of more than $1,000,000 in the books of the bank he founded, Joseph W. Harriman, indicted former head of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company, was expected to be released today from Nassau-co hospital, at Mineola.

The 68-year-old banker was taken to the hospital after plunging a knife into his breast in his room at an inn at Roslyn, Long Island. Harriman was found at the inn in the course of an intensive search following his disappearance from a private hospital here where he had been undergoing treatment for a heart ailment and other illnesses.

Harriman was virtually a prisoner of his bondsmen this morning.

Although police withdrew active surveillance over the banker, two agents of the survey company which posted $25,000 bond for Harriman hovered above his hospital room.

The agents, John Bropson and Herman Paul, declared Harriman was to all intents their prisoner and that as soon as he was discharged from the hospital they would take him before a federal judge and request that his bail be invalidated.

POISONED GIRL MAY YET MAKE RECOVERY

DETROIT, May 22.—Miss Agnes Remsik, pretty 22-year-old Chicago girl who took slow poison a fortnight ago after a quarrel with her fiance, continued today to show some improvement, receiving hospital physicians said.

The girl has hovered near death for a week. Physicians are helpless to aid her. Science knows no antidote for the 13 deadly tablets she swallowed two weeks ago last night.

Blood tests Friday showed the poison was slowly being eliminated from her system. The drug she took usually proves fatal within two weeks.

NEGRO FACES TRIAL FOR SLADE MURDER

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Accused of the first-degree murder of William G. Slade during a robbery last January 30, Fred "Monk" Fossett, 60-year-old negro, went on trial in Criminal court here today.

MOTHER DIES, 2 DAUGHTERS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. Anne Fischer Stevenson, 43, Passes Away Sunday Evening

FUNERAL PRIVATE

Four Weeks' Typhoid Illness is Fatal

Mrs. Anne Fischer Stevenson, wife of Ralph B. Stevenson, died at her home near Ashville Sunday at 8 p. m. The cause of death was para typhoid fever following an illness of four weeks. Two daughters are seriously ill of the same disease.

Mrs. Stevenson was 43 years old and was the daughter of Mrs. Dorothea Fischer, this city, and the late William F. Fischer.

Surviving are her mother; her husband; four children, Mary Ann, Ralph Bentley Jr., Jane and Martha Moorhead Stevenson, all at home, and the following brothers and sisters, Misses Catherine and Eva Fischer, Mrs. S. L. Boger of Detroit, Mich., Rev. Carl D. Fischer of Clyde, O., Will W. Fischer of Ashville, George A. Fischer and Frank Fischer.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. at the home of her mother, 223 Watt-st, with Rev. W. Newton Mantle of the Ashville Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. Friends are asked to call before the funeral. Pall bearers will be Harry G. Stevenson, Bruce Stevenson, Donald H. Watt, Ernest Groce, Will W., and George Fischer.

Burial will be in Forest cemetery in charge of E. F. Schlegel of Ashville. Funeral and burial will be private and it is requested that flowers be omitted.

Court News

TESTIMONY BEGINS

Testimony began Monday morning in the case of F. W. Tweed against Mrs. Winifred Given after the jury, selected shortly after convening, visited the scene of an automobile crash on N. Court-st, the basis of the petition.

Attorneys in the case are C. A. Leist for the plaintiff and Barton Walters for the defendant.

Members of the jury include Mrs. John Bell, Circleville-twp; F. M. Stout, Washington-twp; Ira Crawford, Muhlenberg-twp; Charles Spangler, Darby-twp; J. M. Dountz, Scioto-twp; W. B. Grabill, Scioto-twp; Frank Clark, Jackson-twp; George C. Griffith, third ward; Mrs. George Finch, Scioto-twp; Anna Wing, Deercreek-twp; Harley Walston, Deercreek-twp and Carmel Rasor, Scioto-twp.

Witnesses subpoenaed include Elmer Hampp, John S. Ritt, E. M. Stout and G. H. Adkins for the plaintiff and Adrian Yates and Asa Elsea for the defendant.

HANCOCK SUED

W. K. Sheley, of Jamestown, Greene-co, has filed suit for $15,351.57 from K. P. Hancock, personally and as administrator of the estate of his late father, Clarence A. Hancock.

An injunction has been granted by Judge J. W. Adkins to prevent Judge C. C. Young, of probate court, from approving the final account of Mr. Hancock.

Emmitt L. Crist and Richard Simkins represented Sheley.

GUY CULP BUYS LEIST PROPERTY

Guy Culp, N. Court-st, purchased the property of Jennie and Esta Leist on E. Main-st at a sheriff's sale conducted at the court house. The price was $4,250, only $350 less than the appraised value.

Tom A. Renick was Mr. Culp's attorney.

Local Lawyers Plan To Attend District Confab

A number of local attorneys are planning to attend the district meeting of the Ohio State bar association at Chillicothe on Saturday, June 3. Some excellent talks are in prospect.

Following registration a noon luncheon will be held at the Chillicothe Country club with Hon. A. R. Johnson, of Ironton, senior member of the executive committee of the state bar association, to address the lawyers.

A round-table discussion will be held in the afternoon with John A. Poland, Chillicothe, presiding. Charles H. Jones, Jackson legislator, will speak on laws enacted by the general assembly, and Carlton Dargusch, member of the state tax commission will speak, and Henry G. Binns, Columbus, member of the bar association committee on judicial administration and legal reform, will outline a proposal to abolish the office of justice of the peace and create an inferior court system. Robert N. Wilkin, of New Philadelphia, will speak at the same meeting on selection and tenure of judges.

A banquet will be held at the Warner hotel in the evening with Robert Guinther, of Akron, president of the State Bar association, making a few remarks and Hon. H. H. McKeehan, of Cleveland, to be the principal speaker. Judge Craig McBride, of Hillsboro, will be toastmaster.

Other counties besides Pickaway and Ross in this district are Clinton, Jackson, Vinton, Fairfield, Hocking, Fayette, Athens, Pike, Scioto, Lawrence, Highland and Adams.

Hail-stones Wreck Town

Roof Tops Broken, Chickens Killed, Girl Hurt In Village Today.

SHIP HARBOR, N. S., May 22.—One-inch hail stones fell like machine-gun bullets in a terrific storm in the vicinity of Ship Harbor today, crashing through roof tops, breaking nearly every pane of glass in the village, killing chickens, and frightening cattle and horses.

The only human injuries reported were received by a little girl, Erma Marks, who was painfully injured about the head by the pellets of ice which struck her as she ran for shelter.

Twenty-five houses were damaged by the hail stones as they pierced their roofs. The tops of scores of automobiles were riddled and leaded glass windows of the Angelican church were smashed.

JAP ARMIES NEAR PEIPING

Nipponese Report City To Be Occupied By Nightfall; Chinese Deny.

SHANGHAI, May 22.—Japanese reports this afternoon stated Peiping would be occupied by Japanese troops before nightfall.

Chinese circles, however, denied the reports.

Information received by Japanese military headquarters told of the capture of Tungchow, despite the fact previous assurances had been received from Changchun, capital of Manchukue, that there would be no further Japanese advance.

Tungchow, only 13 miles east of Peiping, was taken by two Japanese regiments under Colonels Matsu and Maimoto. The regiments, part of the famous Hattori brigade, pushed on toward Peiping with the Chinese defenders in full retreat.

Escaped Insane Men Sought In St. Louis Today

ST. LOUIS, May 22.—Six inmates of the criminal insane ward of the city sanitarium, three of them described as desperate characters, who escaped after overpowering an attendant remained at large today as police spread a dragnet thoroughout the city.

Those who escaped were Jack De La Casa, 30, former convict; Raymond Jones, 22; Paul Andragna, 21; Harry Leslie Seel, 21; Carl Byington, 29, and John Kaemmerlen, 14. De La Casa, Jones and Andragna were described as the desperate men.

The escape occurred shortly after 7 o'clock last night when De La Casa, who had been handcuffed to his bed called Mont Brawley, 31, attendant. As Brawley leaned over De La Casa's bed, De La Casa, described as the "most powerful man" in the sanitarium, seized Brawley, handcuffed him to the bed and then gagged him. It is believed De La Casa used a duplicate key to free himself. Where he obtained the key was a mystery. De La Casa and Seel, who was in the same room with the former then released Jones and they were joined by Andragna, Byington and Kaemmerlen.

DISMISSAL OF MEN DENIED BY CO. DADS

County commissioners, Monday, denied they had ordered the discharge of four men from the county relief work gang because of their presentation of a petition requesting higher wages.

The commissioners said that the only man ordered from work was Charles Peters, N. Scioto-st, and that the reason for this dismissal was because Peters was really a resident of Pike-co and not of Pickaway.

Continuing, the commissioners said that they did not bear any animosity toward any of the men because of their requesting higher wages and demanding it through a petition, but they said that they would not grant any wage increase because they were not financially able to make any increase.

SIMS COURT WARD

Orrin Sims, 16, of Ashville, indicted with an alleged ring of chicken thieves for burglary and larceny, has been made a ward of the Fairfield-co juvenile court.

U. S. OFFER FOR PEACE REVEALED

Nation Willing to Abandon Certain Rights, Davis Tells World

PACT IS FAVORABLE

To Abolish Weapons of Aggression

WASHINGTON, May 22.— An indication that the United States will be prepared to abandon certain rights of neutrality in order to promote universal peace, was given to the world today by Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large in a speech before the disarmament conference at Geneva.

Explaining the extent to which the United States is prepared to go, Davis said that in the event the nations, in conference, "determine that a state has been guilty of a breach of peace in violation of its international obligations and take measures against the violator, then, if we concur in the judgment rendered as to the responsible and guilty party, we will refrain from any action tending to defeat such collective efforts which these states may thus make to restore peace."

WOULD ENTER PACT

America is willing, Davis informed the Geneva delegates, to enter into a consultative pact, to participate in an international commission to supervise control of armaments; and to join with other powers in abolishing offensive weapons of warfare, such as heavy mobile artillery; large tanks, poison gas, etc.

Announcing that the United States was prepared to aid in other ways than merely through exerting influence, Davis outlined the steps that the United States was willing to take as follows:

"As regards the elevel of armaments," he said, "we are prepared to go as far as the other states in the way of reductions.

"We feel the ultimate objective should be to reduce armaments approximately to the level established by the peace treaties; that is, to bring armaments as soon as possible through successive stages down to the basis of a domestic police force.

"In particular, as emphasized by President Roosevelt, we are prepared to join other nations in abolishing weapons of an aggressive character which not only are the more costly to construct and maintain but at present are those most likely to lead to a breach of the peace. To cut power of offense and remove the threat of surprise attack would do more than anything else to lessen the danger of a war.

FOLLOW MACDONALD

"A few weeks ago the British prime minister submitted a detailed proposal which embodies many of the features of the American plan of last year. As the British proposal represents a real measure of disarmament, we accept it wholeheartedly as a definite and excellent step toward the ultimate objective. We therefore are prepared to give our full support to the adoption of this plan."

PICKAWAY SCHOOL PROGRAM TUESDAY

Rev. S. L. Metzler delivered a splendid baccalaureate sermon to an unusually large crowd at the Pickaway-twp school auditorium Sunday evening. Music was furnished by a choir of 35 undergraduates directed by Miss Mary Radcliffe.

Commencement will be held Tuesday evening with Dr. Henry J. Arnold, of Wittenberg college, delivering the address. Music will be furnished by the Capital university faculty orchestra. There is no admission to the service.

FAIR DATES SET

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Approximately 100 county and independent fairs will be held in Ohio this year, it was revealed today in tentative dates filed with the state department of agriculture.

Among the fair dates tentatively selected are: Belmont County fair at St. Clairsville, Sept 12-14; inclusive; Coshocton County Fair at Coshocton, Oct. 3 to 7; Delaware County Fair at Powell, Aug. 23-25; Monroe County fair at Woodsfield, Aug. 8-10; Circleville Pumpkin Show at Circleville, Oct. 4-7; Richwood Independent Fair at Richwood, Aug. 8-11.

Riggs' Bat Aids Red Birds' Win

Lew Riggs came to life Sunday and his hitting proved a great help to the Red Birds in scoring their third straight victory over the Toledo Mud Hens. Bill Lee, big right-hander, bested Thornton Lee, Toledo moundsman, to gain a 4-3 margin.

Riggs hit safely three times his last single driving in the winning run. The Birds were blanked for the first six frames by Lee's shoots but broke loose in the seventh to score two markers and followed with a like number in the eighth.

Toledo threatened in the ninth but Lee fanned the final batter with the tying run on base.

The Red Birds now go to Indianapolis where the first night games of the year will be played Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

TREGO IN FORM

Ability of 'Red' Trego, Commercial Point athlete, again helped the Capital university track team when Otterbein was defeated Saturday, 66-65.

Trego gave the 'Cap' harriers a lead in the first event when he won the broad jump. He then finished second in the 100-yard dash while his team-mate, Schiff won the event.

GOLFERS CAVORT

Circleville high school's golf team was taking part, this afternoon, in the Central Buckeye league meet over the Arlington course. Johnny Mader, Bob Friece, Lee Cook and Charlie Glitt were to make up the team.

Much opposition is expected from the Grandview quartet which won the central district contest over other competing schools.

After Welter Crown

By International News Service

The Heroes—Walter Miller, White Sox, and Wild Bill Hallahan, Cardinals. Each pitched a two-hit game, Miller blanking Washington 6 to 0 in his first start of the year and Hallahan beating the Giants, 2 to 1, in the first game of a double-header.

The goat—Frank O'Doul, Brooklyn. After hitting two homers in the first game of a twin bill with the Cubs, he lost the game in the tenth by failing to catch DeMaree's short fly and then dropping Douthit's fly.

With his eye on the welterweight title, Jim McLarnin, who has laid many champions low, but never wore a crown, is pictured as he trained for his forthcoming bout with Young Corbett, welterweight champion, at Los Angeles. They'll battle for the title at Wrigley Field May 29.

MILTON'S "STUDENT" ENTERS BIG CONTEST

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 22.—A driver who took a post graduate course in automobile racing from a great dean of speed will be in the annual 500-mile competition at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on May 30.

He is Bob McDonogh, known in racing circles as the "Frisco Flash," who can tool a car about a speedway as smoothly as a ball room dance team does a tango and who was taught his trade by the famous Tommy Milton, only two time winner of the Decoration Day classic.

McDonogh had barely passed the voting age when Milton took a liking to the keen eyed youngster from California. The great master first gave his protege a course in automobile mechanics and taught him the tricks of the trade from a black board. Before he even came close to a track, McDonogh could almost assemble a race car in the dark and then the totor prepared to make a driver out of him.

The "Frisco Flash" did not have to come up to racing the hard way—through the dust and dirt of the smaller tracks. Milton put him through his lessons in driving much like a music master would train an ambitious young piano student.

HOT DUCK MATCH SCHEDULED AT 7

One of the most interesting bowling matches of the season is expected to be held this evening on the Circleville Recreation alleys when the Herdman-Leasure team, holder of the alley record, meets the Bob Maloney team.

The match is scheduled for 7 p. m.

The Herdman-Leasure outfit has twice topped the mark which won the Kentucky state duck-pin tournament and have shown real form. The men Maloney has selected on his team should give the record-holders a stiff argument.

Bam "Pals" With Heroic Orphans

Once an orphan boy himself, Babe Ruth, America's baseball hero, retains a warm spot in his heart for parentless children. The mighty swatter of the New York Yankees is here shown amid an enthusiastic group composed of the Passaic (N. J.) orphan boys who recently saved an Erie R. R. express from destruction by flagging it to a stop.

The Heroes—Walter Miller, White Sox, and Wild Bill Hallahan, Cardinals. Each pitched a two-hit game, Miller blanking Washington 6 to 0 in his first start of the year and Hallahan beating the Giants, 2 to 1, in the first game of a double-header.

The goat—Frank O'Doul, Brooklyn. After hitting two homers in the first game of a twin bill with the Cubs, he lost the game in the tenth by failing to catch DeMaree's short fly and then dropping Douthit's fly.

DAVIS SCORES

New Holland's track team, rather Pete Davis, scored eight points in the state track and field meet held at Columbus Friday and Saturday.

The 'B' meet was won by Mentor with 26 points while Lakeside with 16 was second. Cleveland East Tech won the class 'A' title with Lakewood second.

New Holland's points were scored in the high jump where Davis finished in a tie for fourth; in the broad jump where Davis won fourth; in the 100-yard dash where the youth again took fourth, and in the 440-yard dash where he finished third.

STARS PLAY HERE

A large crowd of golfers was cavorting on the Pickaway Country club course this afternoon when a district pro-amateur contest was held. Many of the state's best club-wielders were displaying their wares before a large crowd of spectators.

BOTH LEAGUES ARE OPEN FOR HOT SCRAMBLE

Reversal of Form Show In National; Four Teams Have Chance In A. L.

NEW YORK, May 22—"Pennant dope" was scrambled today by startling form reversals in both major leagues.

A prophet attempting to pick flag winners on the basis of recent returns would wind up cutting paper dolls. In the National league are the New York Giants behind the league-leading Pirates as the result of losing five straight games on the heels of a five game winning streak; the Cubs losing five straight and then winning four in a row; Brooklyn smacking the Cardinals down in three successive games and then losing all three of their games with the Cubs; and the Cards sweeping their four-game series with the Giants after taking it on the chin from Brooklyn.

The American league race is a wide open, four-cornered scramble with the fourth-place Cleveland Indians only a game and a half behind the leading Yankees today as the two clubs begin one of those "croocial" series.

BROWNS IN FORM

The St. Louis Browns, of all people—the same Brownies who won only one game from New York in 1927—humbled the champions for the second time in a row yesterday, 8 to 4. St. Louis piled up 15 hits while "Bumps" Bradley held the Yanks to four, but Hadley was in hot water all the way. He walked eight men and Combs got a homer with two on base when Ted Gullic lost his fly in the sun.

Russ Van Atta, star Yank rookie from St. Paul, started the game and was charged with his first defeat of the season.

Unlooked for strength was added to the pitching staff of the Chicago White Sox when Walter Miller, the old Cleveland southpaw, making his first start of the year for Chicago, held Washington to two hits, both singles, and won in a romp, 6 to 0. Al Simmons drove in four runs with two doubles.

Wild Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals turned in another two-hitter in taking a 2 to 1 duel from Carl Hubbell of the Giants in the first game of a twin bill. Old Jess Haines, making his first start of the year for St. Louis in the nightcap, was kayoed but the Cards pounded three Giant pitchers and won 8 to 4.

O'DOUL IS HELD

The champion Cubs, playing like wildfire since the report got about last week that all of them were about to get the sack, two-timed Brooklyn, 7 to 6 and 6 to 3. Lefty O'Doul hit two homers for the Dodgers in the opener but lost the game in the tenth inning when he failed to hold on to a fly ball. Pat Malone outpitched Walter Beck in the second game.

The Phils and Reds divided a double bill, Cincinnati taking the night cap 4 to 2 after losing the opener, 3 to 1.

The Boston Red Sox got handsome returns on a recent investment when Lloyd Brown, southpaw bought from the Browns, held Detroit to six hits and won a 2 to 0 decision over Vic Sorrell. As a result, back bay fans were treated to the unusual spectacle of the tail-end Sox capturing a series, two games to one.

FARM CREDITS LAW IS IMMEDIATE AID

The agricultural credits section of the Farm Act recently made law by act of Congress and the signature of the President provides for immediate relief to mortgage ridden Ohio farmers.

This section of the bill, according to J. L. Falconer, chief of the department of rural economics at the Ohio State university, enables the federal land banks to issue bonds, and from the proceeds to reduce, under certain conditions, the principal of farm mortgages and the rate of interest, and to extend the time of payment. Other provisions are for short time loans and for second mortgages.

The new law provides for the reduction of interest rate to not more than 4 1-2 per cent on all loans made by the federal land banks which have, heretofore, charged interest rates of 5 to 5 1-2 per cent. Up to 1932 the federal land banks had loaned to 9250 Ohio farmers about $35,000,000.

TO DELAY PAYMENTS

A second provision of the law makes possible the postponement of payment toward the principal of the debt provided interest payments are made.

Loans taken out at a higher rate of interest than 4 1-2 per cent may be refinanced. The borrower may borrow from the federal land bank up to 50 per cent of the normal value of the land and up to 20 per cent of the value of permanent improvements on the farm. Means for refinancing are provided by the issuance of bonds by the federal government, up to 2 billion dollars.

Second mortgages also are provided for. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is directed by the law to make available to the farm loan bank commissioners $200,000,000. This money is to be used for making loans up to 75 per cent of the normal value of farm property, real and personal, including crops.

Rate of interest on these second mortgages shall not exceed 5 per cent, nor shall the loans extend more than 10 years. During the first three years of this time interest on the loan only is required; no payments on principal will be required until the fourth year.

AID REFINANCING

This second mortgage provision, according to Dr. Falconer, is intended primarily for the assistance of farmers who have large loans to refinance.

For further information about the credits section of the farm act farmers are directed to the secretary of the farm loan association which serves their area. There are 85 such associations in Ohio. If none serves in a farmer's district he may take up the matter directly with the Federal Land Bank of Louisville, which serves the Ohio area.

G.O.P. FIGHTS LONGER TERM FOR OFFICIAL

Schorr To Lead Referendum Effort To Cause Defeat Of Bills.

COLUMBUS, May 22.—A statewide referendum is being planned by Republican state headquarters in an effort to defeat term-extender bills which have been voted for county officials by the legislature.

State Chairman Ed Schorr was reported to be at the head of the movement.

The campaign will be directed at bills already passed which extend the terms of county clerks and county recorders from two to four years, giving a two-year extension to all those now holding office. The Republicans contend that the principal beneficiaries of the two acts will be Democrats who were elected last November.

A fight may also be waged by the Republicans against term-extender bills to benefit prosecutors, sheriffs, coroners and treasurers, which are now pending before the assembly.

A bill to lengthen the terms of prosecutors was passed by the state senate Thursday, and was sent to the house of representatives. Senator Paul Yoder (D), of Dayton, who introduced it, then introduced a similar measure for sheriffs, coroners, and treasurers.

Schorr, it was learned, has been conferring with Ohio Republican leaders for several weeks about asking for a referendum.

The Democratic make-up of the legislature will be pointed to as one of the principal arguments against the bills, and the opponents will assert that the legislation was designed to benefit Democrats. Democrats, however, declare that four-year terms are "necessary and logical" for efficient county government.

SUMMER SESSION AT NORTHERN TO OPEN ON JUNE 13

ADA, May 22—Ohio Northern university will open for the sixty-second annual summer session, on Tuesday, June 13, with registration and payment of fees. Inquiries received indicate that the enrollment for the summer session will be larger than that of last summer, and university officials are expecting a substantial increase in attendance.

Plans for the session include an unusually large number of course offerings in the division of teacher training in the college of liberal arts. Model schools for the training of cadet teachers will be established in two public schools in Lima. Two model schools are to be established in Ada also.

In addition to the courses offered under the division of teacher training, a full schedule of courses will also be given in the other departments of the liberal arts college, especially in the departments of music and physical education.

Movie Fans Grateful

THE federal trade commission has made one ruling that ould win for that body the everasting thanks of the American oving picture public.

The commission recently issued ruling barring from exhibition ny jungle film that was not ade under the conditions set orth in the advertisements of the icture. A great number of jungle ictures, which the producers aimed were made in the "heart f Africa" or other wild territory, ave been exhibited in the last ear or two. Civilized beings have peculiar interest in savages and ther inhabitants of the untamed laces on the earth's surface. There as an immediate and popular reponse to the first of these picres, Producers quickly saw a old mine in such films, and there as a flood of them.

Some of the films may have een made under the conditions laimed, but it did not require the ord of the trade commission to onvice observant fans that any of them were not. According o the commission, the main parts f some of them were "shot" in Hollywood and the Los Angeles oo. Negro children, attired in loin lothes and smiles—and sometimes ithout the former—were used as frican pygmies. Numerous other eceptions were practiced, according to the commission.

Henceforth the latter is to see hat there shall be no repetition of his.

The people may like to be fooled ut after they find out they are eing fooled they want that particular form of deception to stop.

The Russian Navy

A REMINDER of how well a nation can keep its naval strength a secret comes in reports from Helsingfors that Soviet Russia is preparing for a fleet demonstration in the Baltic.

Although other governments through their secret agents probably have a certain amount of information relative to the size and strength of the Russian fleet, there is almost a total lack of authentic public information on the subject. Unauthoritative reports have listed three battleships four cruisers, two mine layers, 17 destroyers and 29 submarines as making up the fleet.

Formidable fleets at one time were maintained by Russia in the Baltic and the Black sea. The Kronstadt revolt in 1921 and the activities of the White Russians, however, were said by soviet officials to have virtually destroyed these, but reports since then have indicated that the government was engaged in an effort to restore its sea power. How far it has gone in this attempt is not known.

Reports are current in Helsingfors that much attention has been given to the development of a powerful naval air force to include bombers capable of destroying large warships and merchant vessels.

The coming Baltic domonstration should afford an opportunity for the world to learn what to expect or to fear from a Russian navy. It may result in a new element being injected into disarmament discussions.

THE CHALLENGE OF LOVE

by WARWICK DEEPING

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

Wolfe's face had grown keen and hugely intent. He watched this little man and felt a gradual and grim respect for him. Josiah Crabbe was what he pretended to be, a bit of granite, hard, clean, and solid. Men hated him—the men who were weaker and less sincere than he was—and he cherished this hatred, knowing it to be the surest homage that he could receive.

They stared at each other for a moment without speaking. Then Josiah Crabbe leaned back in his chair.

"Thirty years ago they tried to break me, to get me out of Navestock."

Wolfe nodded.

"They couldn't do it. I had my piece of rock. It was a small bit then. But they broke their picks on it. They are going to break their picks—on you."

He leaned forward with a certain dramatic fierceness, his hands gripping the arms of the chair.

"Do you take me? You are going to stay in Navestock!"

"How is that?"

"Because I have been waiting for you for the last ten years."

"My dear sir."

"I say that I have been waiting for you for the last ten years. That's plain, isn't it? Not an easy matter to find men, I tell you. Good Gosh! Just think of the flabby folk who swell themselves out to look big and solid. All wind! I want a man who has fought, who has roughed it—who can hit. A strong body and a long arm—you've got 'em. I'm a good judge."

"Thank you."

Josiah Crabbe whisked up his handkerchief, and waved it as a bull-fighter might brandish a red flag.

"See! Turrell and the whole crew, ready to charge you out of the town. Hang it all—are they going to do just as they please? I've been waiting to fight 'em for ten years. I was in no hurry; I could bide my time. I knew I could force this on some day. The town has been hanging rotten ripe for years. Old Threadgold knows it. You know it. I say that you are going to stay."

Wolfe tilted his chair on its hind legs, his face half-grim, half-amused.

"You may say that, Mr. Crabbe, but the staying is a different matter."

"You are going to attend me."

"If necessary."

"I say that you are going to attend me."

"What about Threadgold?"

"Threadgold be darned! I have not had a pill from him for twenty years. Do you think I would have that bag of chicken food inside my house! He's Turrell's man; he's in with the rest of them. You are my doctor. See?"

"No, I don't."

"Where's your objection?"

"You don't need a doctor."

"Don't I! Can't I have a man to look after me if I want him? Confound it, it's my affair! Look here, you will visit me three times a week at a guinea a visit."

"I can't do it."

"I say you shall."

"The money wouldn't be earned."

"Man, you're a fool! Don't you see I want to give you a start here without flicking your accursed pride? If an old man wants to do a thing—can't a young man grant him the favour?"

"Thirty years ago they tried to break me, to get me out of Navestock. They couldn't do it," Crabbe went on.

"In three months we might have quarrelled."

"No."

"Why not?"

"Men who can hit out square and straight may fight, but they don't quarrel."

Wolfe's eyes gleamed.

"That's true."

Presently he said:

"A man cannot make war without guns and ammunition."

"What do you mean?"

"Drugs, instruments, bottles."

"Buy them."

"I may not care to sink my piece of rock in a bog."

"Buy them."

"And take the risk?"

"If I put down fifty pounds on this table, you would throw up your chin. You are made that way. How much have you got?"

"Forty pounds."

"Spend thirty."

"Hum."

"Take rooms. Put up a plate. Hire a nag."

"And current expenses?"

"Listen. In a month you will be earning five pounds a week. That's rock. In a year it will be ten pounds a week. I'll put my word to that. In ten years——"

Wolfe rose, walked to the window, and remained there awhile in thought.

"Give me three days," he said presently.

"Take them, and think it over."

Half a dozen girls in a two-horse wagonette bound for a picnic on Beacon Hill passed John Wolfe about three hundred yards below the white gate of the Moor Farm paddock. The upward slope of the road was fairly sharp here, and the wagonette eased to a walk some twenty yards ahead of the man on foot. Half a dozen inquisitive profiles turned abruptly under the shade of straw hats and bonnets. There was a little tittering, and a significant nudging of elbows.

Miss Edith Wilks—the great dame of the party—occupied one of the end seats next to the door. Her skirts had lengthened a week ago, and her hair bundled itself into a black net. Erect and stiff, her gloved hands in her lap, she turned a condescending head for a moment, and gave Wolfe a very superior stare.

"What a vulgar person!"

"Look at his boots!"

"I thought the man had gone."

"Father said that he was staying at some common public-house."

"I think he is rather good-looking."

"Oh, Ethel, how can you!"

"Well, I like tall men. And he looks clever."

"What nonsense! And he's trying to be grand and haughty; just look."

"Well, anyway, he doesn't gawk."

These friends of Miss Wilks's were young ladies who had grown up in the rarefied atmosphere of genteel homes. Their correctness was the correctness of the backboard and the music-stool. They had family prayers every morning before breakfast, sedate walks, an abundance of piano rattling, edifying books, religious romances, hours of genteel boredom every Sunday.

Someone pointed, and whispered, "Jess!"

A tittering simmer of excitement spread through the party. Heads were turned abruptly away from Wolfe. One or two bonnets protruded over the sides of the wagonette.

"She's there."

"That old green frock, too, and no crinoline!"

"Has she got her basket? The plums and greengages ought to be ripe at the farm."

"Ssh—don't you see!"

"What?"

"He's going there."

"No!"

"Don't giggle, Katie, it is not nice."

Hobby for Relaxation And Health

Cultivate One Which Is Interesting and Diverting

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

I RECENTLY visited a home where the children of my host entertained me by showing their collection of stamps, shells and flowers.

Dr. Copeland

The boy, with his assortment of stamps, was only ten years of age. He was happy with his hobby and had a lot to say about distant parts of the globe. I am confident he learned more about geography from his stamp collection than from his school atlas.

These children were enthusiastic about their hobbies. The parents were proud of their children's accomplishments and encouraged them in every way. I was pleased with this picture because it is my firm belief that hobbies are beneficial for the child as well as the adult.

Relax Mind and Body

Many neurologists claim that hobbies prevent severe emotional and physical distress. They claim that fewer cases of nervous breakdown would occur if more of us had real hobbies. Hobbies are beneficial because they relax the mind, nerves and body. The child, man or woman who has a hobby is indeed fortunate.

I am often asked what type of hobby I recommend. This is difficult to answer. A certain hobby may appeal to one person and prove unattractive to another. One man may devote all his time to golf, whereas another man will cultivate an interest in old books or pictures. One child may collect stamps, and another may delight in tinkering with radios, motors or chemicals.

A hobby must be developed and not forced. So far as health is concerned, it is only successful if it furnishes enjoyment, pleasure and gratification. It must be a soothing pastime if it is to relieve the everyday strain of life.

May Disclose Talents

Bear in mind that the child who has a hobby carries through life a weapon against idle hours and misdirected energy. As in the home I visited, children derive knowledge from a hobby, knowledge which is sometimes difficult to teach at school. A hobby may disclose talent in literature, music, painting, drawing or writing.

Many parents realize the value of a hobby and are prompted to ask how one can be developed. As a rule, a hobby just comes of itself, by accident probably. Parents can aid their children by directing them and guilding them in whatever special interests they display.

Encourage hobbies! It is not necessary to have expensive equipment or special training. A minimum of expense and equipment usually leads to the most enjoyable and successful experiences.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

COURSE, nobody knows how long the girls will keep it up, but the craze for wearing men's clothes has gone pretty far. On some of these hiking trips, and even on the golf links, it's getting impossible to tell when you had better swear and when you hadn't.

Anyway, there was a hiking party in the mountains this summer, and one man says to the individual that was walking along beside him. "Just look at that girl ahead of us with her hair cut short just like ours, and plain men's clothes out and out! Why, I think that's going too far. She looks a fright, and so do all these women that dress like men."

"That's my daughter, and I think she looks all right," says the other one.

"Oh, well, of course, if I'd aknown you were her father——"

"But I ain't. I'm her mother."

And the other fellow didn't have another word to say.

The Housewife's Question Box

Question:—What materials are best suited to young children's summer clothing?

Answer:—Of all our materials cotton is the most ideal for children's summer clothing. Of course your choice of a material will depend on its use. There are the sturdy materials such as percale, gingham, print, broadcloth, madras, pique, suiting and seersucker crepe. These are especially suited to little boys' suits and general-wear dresses for little girls. For little girls' dress-up dresses, there are such materials as the thinner printed muslins, voile, batiste, lawn, organdie, and swiss. Most of these materials may be had in qualities and colors that will stand frequent laundering and much exposure to sun without serious damage; both of which are important requisites of materials for young children's summer clothing. Careful laundering with a mild soap and only lukewarm water and hanging in the shade to dry helps preserve the dainty colors of many cotton materials and keeps them new and fresh looking. A little starch in the last rinse helps to prevent mussing and keeps the material clean longer.

Marian Martin Pattern

LOOK SLIM IN STRIPES
PATTERN 9651

Take your cue from Paris and keep your sport togs very "sporty." The tall, straight silhouette with a bit of breadth at the shoulder is the one to choose . . . note the slender seamings and drop shoulders of this model. There's an air of youth and dash about the becoming collar, the smart bodice lines and snappy pleats. Fabrics to choose are . . . shirting, broadcloth, pique, shantung, etc.

Pattern 9651 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40. Size 16 requires 3 1-2 yards 36 inch fabric. Clear, diagrammed cutting and sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coin preferred) for each MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STLYE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

MOVIES

AT THE GRAND

The sweetheart of Sigma Chi. Why Sigma Chi? That's hard to say except that that's what they used to call the girls on the campus who were always being seen with all the eligible young men.

For as long as anyone can remember—well, at least for the past three years—they've been reporting Mary Brian engaged to one young man or another around Hollywood.

Buddy Rogers, Russell Gleason, Jack Oakie, Dick Powell, Phillips Holmes, George O'Brien, Rudy Vallee, Biff Hoffman, Mervyn LeRoy and Orville Mohler are just a few of the young men who have been reported as willing to "lay hem down and dee" for the charming Mary.

A list of the names was waved in front of Mary Brian at Warner Bros. studio, when she was working opposite James Cagney in his new picture, "Hard To Handle," at the Grand Theatre tonight.

AT THE CLIFTONA

That the historic settings of "Gabriel Over the White House," sensational drama of an American President, tonight and Tuesday at the Cliftona Theatre, are entirely authentic was made certain by the presence at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio of Eugene Thackeray expert on national affairs.

Thackeray qualifies on knowledge of the White House by virtue of eight years as White House correspondent for the New York World. He started his career during the last part of Wilson's administration and served at various intervals during the administrations of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

It was with his guidance that the offices and study of the President were reproduced exactly, as were also the East, Blue, Red and Green Rooms of the executive mansion. He also advised Director Gregory La Cava in the minute details of such ceremonies as the Presidential Inauguration, the signing of the "Hammond Treaty" for war debt payments and the President's procedure when meeting a guest, such as a meeting between President Jud Hammond and Nick Diamond, King of Racketeers, in the present picture.

County-wide farm meetings held in 75 counties in April, called by county agricultural agents to discuss legislation, farm relief, mortgage relief, and co-operation, were attended by 7,324 people.

Most cows increase milk production when first turned on grass even though feed may not be abundant, because grass serves as a tonic and stimulant for a short time. Soon, though, the milk flow shrinks unless the feed supply is plentiful.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

A Tidy Business

By IRVIN S. COBB

DURING the Great War one of the British training camps was established at a convenient point on the seacoast. Certain of the recruits who hailed from remote interior points, never had seen salt water before their arrival. On the morning when they reached camp, two of these greenhorns—fresh-cheeked up-country yokels—took a stroll along the shore. The proprietor of a bathing-machine—or as we would put it, the owner of a series of bathhouses—importuned them to " 'ave a dip."

The benefit of sea-bathing were picturesquely recounted. But there was nothing doing. As a last effort, the resourceful manager offered to deliver a couple of pails of the briny at the billets of the newcomers on the understanding that they were to give it a fair trial, per the sponge route, and if found refreshing were to pay sixpence per pail for it. The offer was accepted.

The next morning the recruits, duly refreshed, went down to the shore to pay their sixpences. They arrived at a time when the tide was at its lowest ebb and were met by a broad expanse of sand where water had been the day before.

"My word!" cried out one of them, "but that chap 'as done a big business since yesterday."

Did you ever stop to think

By EDSON R. WAITE

John J. Connors, advertising manager of the Albany (N. Y.) News and the Knickerbocker Press, says:

"Burns said 'The best laid schemes o' mice and men gang aft a-gley,'

"A certain executive started out to advertise through magazines the advantages of a certain brand of oranges. He dressed his advertisements up with beautiful colored backgrounds of sun - drenched scenes. He was surprised to find he was selling tourist tickets, not oranges.

"Another business leader engaged a clever and popular comedian to sing and joke his product into the homes. Everybody seemed to enjoy the comedian's entertainment. But when the man who paid the bills applied the unsentimental calipers of business, he found the singer was warbling his way into fat stage and movie contracts, but the real purpose of the undertaking, the sale of his product, was overlooked.

"Advertisements that sell the most goods at a profit seldom cause people to congregate on the street corners to discuss them as advertisements. The discussion that results usually is about the article offered for sale. Ask yourself what other type of advertising can give you these advantages, a few of those presented by the newspaper:

An open path to the mind through the most receptive sense, the sight.

A chance to reach that mind at any time. The newspaper awaits the convenience of the reader.

Attractive illustrations, adequate descriptions of the product, real reasons for a purchase.

Cordial invitation into the home (readers pay for newspapers), while canvassers and handbills often fail of admission.

Sought-after news in adjoining columns, from which the eye is readily attracted into advertising copy.

Confidence. Years of reputable newspaper publishing have shown the reader he is protected against fraud.

Timely messages. (If it rains tonight, you'll see galoshes and rubbers advertised tomorrow.

Informing the reader where to buy by listing in the advertisement local stores where articles may be purchased.

Selected markets. Raincoats don't sell in the Arizona desert and Florida people buy fewer furs.

Low economical rates.

"It is quite natural that newspapers should and do carry more advertising than all other forms combined."

Trees to the number of 2,750,000 were planted in Ohio this spring. Distribution was by the forestry division of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, assisted by county agricultural agents. Students of vocational agriculture planted 450,000; 4-H club members set out 100,000.

JACKSON-TWP ALUMNI BANQUET HELD SATURDAY

Blue and silver, colors of the graduating class of the Jackson-twp school, were used in the decorations for the annual banquet given by the Jackson Alumni association at the school building Saturday evening. Covers were laid for eighty for the dinner at attractive tables centered with blue iris and white snow balls and lighted by blue candles. An artistic centerpiece of pink tea roses was used at the graduates' table.

The dinner was in charge of Mrs. Fannie Brooks, president of the association, who was assisted by Mrs. George Shook, Mrs. James Wolford, Mrs. C. L. Black and Miss Bernice Rowe.

Following the dinner hour, Mrs. Fay Nothstine Wolford gave a reading, "On the Road to Mandalay." George McDowell, school superintendent, introduced the senior class including Miss Roma Melvin, president; Festus Walters, vice president; Elizabeth Fisher, secretary; Gerald Majors, treasurer; Gladys Peters, Pearl Fausnaugh, Evelyn Fortner, Eleanor Anderson, Ruth James, Caroline Rowe, Francis Clark and Ray Wagner.

Miss Mary Shortridge, toastmistress, gave the welcome address with response by Miss Melvin.

The election of officers was in charge of Howard Stevenson, retiring vice president, and results were Miss Annabelle Barch, president; Mrs. Bernard Porter, Columbus, vice president; and Mrs. Wendell Meteer, Columbus, secretary-treasurer.

SALES TAX

sales tax is not known. Thirteen of the 24 committeemen must give their approval to vote the bill out. On a motion made last Thursday to kill the bill, the vote was 9 to 9.

Those upon whom the burden apparently rests are Reps. Patrick J. Dunn (D) of Tuscarawas-co, George E. Niswonger (D) of Dayton, James Roberts (R) of Canton, and Richard S. Douglas (D) of Cleveland.

Various strategies were considered over the week-end by the administration in the hope of eliminating criticism of the bill. One was the exemption of all purchases under 25 cents from taxation.

SOVIET HOPEFUL OF RECOGNITION

MOSCOW, May 22 — Declaring the isolationist policy of the United States at an end, the Soviet press occupied itself today with the topic nearest its heart—American recognition.

Za Industrialsaza, organ of heavy industry, bid for recognition, by advancing dollar and cents arguments in support of it. . . . . "We are for normal diplomatic relations with the U. S. A.," the paper declared. "But such relations do not belong to the category of philanthropy. They rest upon economics.

"t remains for the Roosevelt new deal to clarify Soviet-American trade relations, and there is only one road to follow."

ECONOMY THEME OF CHURCH MEET

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Numerous economy measures appeared today as the most important business which will face delegates to the 145th general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America, as the opening date for the session neared.

More than 1,500 persons, 800 of them official delegates, are expected to attend the five-day meeting here, opening Thursday with a nationwide radio broadcast by Rev. Charles W. Kerr, of Tulsa, Okla., retiring moderator of the church.

HUGE BAIL MADE IN GORDON CASE

NEW YORK, May 22.—Waxey Gordon, New York's "public enemy number one," whom the government intends shall follow the trial of Al Capone to Atlanta penitentiary, was held in $100,000 bail today for early trial when arraigned in federal court on charges of evading $382,974 income taxes on his income of $1,616,900 in 1930

WET SPRING HALTS FARM CROP PLANS

The wet and backward spring season has delayed the planting of oats, barley and corn from two to four weeks in Ohio and has upset the plans of farmers who intended the seeding of grasses and legumes.

Crops specialists of the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service offer the following suggestions to those whose cropping plans are in a tangle:

"Planting of oats and barley as late as the last half of May is probably inadvisable except in the extreme northeast part of Ohio," they say. "In other sections yields from such plantings may be expected to be less than one-half of a normal crop.

"Grass or legume seedings, alone or with companion crops, made in late May or early June have little chance of succeeding because weed growth is extremely rapid in that period. Where such seedings were to have been made in early spring, the land should be fallowed until July 1, at least, and then seeded in midsummer with alfalfa, clovers, or timothy.

"Delay seeding, then, until moisture is actually at hand, in the entire plow layer of the soil. Land fallowed for several weeks after plowing receives and retains more water. Summer seedings should not be made before July 1. With the exception of timothy, they should be made as soon after this date as the soil is in favorable condition. Timothy in mixture should not be sown until August.

"Crops suggested for provision of hay for 1934, if the soil is suitable for their growth, are: alfalfa; red, mammoth and alsike clovers; timothy in mixture, and timothy alone.

"Much can be done to hasten the maturity of corn through fertilization. Adequate applications of fertilizer in the row or in the hill will hasten maturity two to four days on dark colored upland and on bottom soils, and four to seven days on light colored uplands.

"Selection of shorter seasoned varieties or strains offer a second means of gaining time. For bottom lands in southern Ohio the shorter seasoned varieties normally grown on adjacent uplands are suggested. Northern Ohio grown varieties and strains may be used in southern and central Ohio. Unusually early strains from northern Ohio and Michigan may be used in the northern half of the state.

"Soybeans fit in admirable fashion into the gap left by curtailed spring grain and corn plantings. The soybean may be used on the farm or marketed, and it is not too late to seed it. Even in normal times there is not a surplus of this crop. For hay, seeding may be done as late as the third week in June in most localities in the state. A seed crop may be secured if planted before June 15, provided early strains, such as Manchu, Illini, and Danfield, are used.

On those farms now short of hay or pasture, owing to failure of grass seedings in 1931 and 1932, sudan grass may be sown on those acres intended for barley or oats. Proper date for seeding sudan grass is normally June 1 to 20."

While Babies Cry for It!

Scenes like this, showing striking dairymen pouring milk over the highway, are now an almost hourly occurrence in Wisconsin, where the milk war has reached the dangerous stage. Governor Schmedeman recently announced his determination to deal firmly with the situation and has sent several hundred National Guardsmen to the affected area, swearing them in as deputy sheriffs.

Mooney To Tell Story On Stand?

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Thomas J. Mooney on the witness stand.

That was the exciting probability today—Mooney telling his story in a court room for the first time—his denial of the charges that he was implicated in the bomb tossing of 1916 which claimed 10 lives.

The likelihood that the famous prisoner would take the stand in a hearing of a long dormant murder indictment—he was convicted on one and six were dismissed—was seen because—

1. All indications pointed to a refusal on the part of the state supreme court to interfere with the trial, scheduled to start before Superior Judge Louis H. Ward tomorrow.

2. The ruling of Judge Ward when the case was first called a month ago that Mooney had the right "to deny from his own lips the accusations against him."

SALES TAX FIGHT NOW AT CLIMAX

Decision of Four Committee Members May Make or Break Plans

STATE IS WATCHING

White's Future May Depend on Outcome

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Stirring drama will be unfolded and political history will be written in Ohio's placid old statehouse with the re-opening tonight of Governor George White's titanic battle for the sales tax.

"When George White fights, he usually wins," is a correct summarization of the governor's past struggles with the legislature.

Today, however, he faces his first major defeat from the assembly since he took office in January, 1931. Possibly he will win, as always. But there is a possibility that the House taxation committee, although Democratic and although picked by his lieutenants, may kill his sales tax bill outright in a meeting scheduled tonight—may hurl it into oblivion although he has fought for it to the utmost.

The governor's admitted desire to be "promoted" to United States Senator hangs in the balance.

LOBBYISTS FIGHT

Behind the scenes there rages a terrific battle of the lobbyists.

The heaviest sharp-shooting against the sales tax is now being done by a band of Democratic insurgents. Despite the governor's other victories, his friends want to see him win this one at all costs. They fear that defeat would reduce his prestige and his chances of corralling the senatorial nomination.

Jamming the committee room at tonight's meeting, it is expected, will be the always-present lobbyists, for the meeting will be the most crucial one yet held on the sales tax. The administration will make a desperate effort to get the bill voted out with a recommendation for passage.

"Politics," it is said, "makes strange bedfellows." The Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio State Federation of Labor, dropping the old quarrel of capital versus labor, have joined in a mutual fight against the sales tax.

Defending the governor's proposal are the farmers, the educators, the utilities, the highway-builders, and several others.

FOUR UNDECIDED

The element of suspense will be injected when the secretary of the committee calls the names of four members whose attitude on the

Editor Faces Life In Jail

Banks Convicted, Wife Acquitted of Constable's Murder.

EUGENE, Ore., May 22.—Unless Llewellyn A. Banks is granted a new trial, the crusading editor of Jackson-co will be sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder last March 16 of George J. Prescott, Medford, Ore., constable.

Banks was found guilty of second degree murder by a jury of seven men and five women 22 hours after the case was delivered to their hands. His wife, Edith R. Banks, also charged with Prescott's murder, was acquitted.

Judge G. F. Skipworth has no choice in pronouncing sentence as the verdict made life imprisonment mandatory. He deferred sentence pending hearing on motion for new trial and was to sign a formal order today granting Frank J. Lomergan, chief of defense counsel, 30 days to prepare and file the motion.

No flicker of emotion crossed the elderly editor's face as the verdict was read. Mrs. Banks bowed her head and sobbed quietly.

F. D. ORDERS CAMP HUNT EVACUATED

Capital Faces Problem; Those Who Won't Join Forest Army Must Go.

WASHINGTON, May 22. —The bonus army was rapidly developing into a real problem today.

Approximately a thousand destitute veterans who for a week have been supplied by the government with food and quarters were to be "weaned." President Roosevelt has ordered the Fort Hunt, Va., bonus camp set up for the marchers evacuated by noon of all who will not accept his offer of a reforestation job. Breakfast was the last meal served.

Army trucks were waiting to transport those who do not join the forest army from Fort Hunt. Just what the marchers will do when they get here was a question. Police have made no special preparations to handle the veterans, but have announced they would not be allowed to congregate in large groups.

'CAMPS' OPENED

PORTSMOUTH, May 22.—The wooded lands of the Roosevelt game preserve near here echoed with working men today as 212 formerly unemployed Ohioans began planting new trees, removing deadwood and blazing new trails as members of President Roosevelt's reforestation army.

Bronzed and hardened by a period of training at Camp Knox, Ky., the contingent of the Civilian Conservation Corps arrived at the preserve yesterday in automobiles and trucks. Camp was pitched and today the "army," comprising 188 men from Cleveland and 24 from Cincinnati launched into the reforestation work.

The "army" is in charge of Capt. H. B. Hallowell of Philadelphia, and four army officers and four reserve officers.

DELAWARE BLAZE LOSS IS $80,000

DELAWARE, May 22.—Fire of undetermined origin today completely destroyed the building and equipment here of the Denison Engineering Co., makers of ceramic manufacturing machinery.

Raging for five hours before they were brought under control, the flames were estimated to have caused a total loss of $80,000.

The blaze was believed to have started in a shop room of the plant. No evidence was available as to what caused the fire. Police and fire department officials declared, however, that a thorough investigation would be made.

IMMELL ASSUMES GOVERNMENT POST TUESDAY MORNING

Four States Under Supervision of Yellowbud Farmer

SALARY IS $5,000

Chief Agent for Loan Corporation

Robert Immell, Yellowbud farm owner and manager, will assume his duties as agent for the Farm Loan corporation with offices in Louisville, Ky., Tuesday morning. He left his home Monday afternoon.

Mr. Immell's position is considered one of the most important and most sought after in this district. He will supervise four states including Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

As agent he will be one of 12 in the nation each of the others having four states under supervision. He will have power to loan on first mortgage real estate and on second mortgage where there is an equity and also on crops and chattels where real estate is considered.

Loans, over which Mr. Immell has power, will run from one to 10 years with a rate of interest not to exceed five per cent. All applications, he pointed out, must be accompanied by $10 to cover investigation of title and whatever expense is incurred in appraising, etc.

His salary will be $5,000 annually.

BACKED BY LEADERS

Mr. Immell was given the support of both Robert J. Bulkley, U. S. senator, and Mell G. Underwood, representative from this district. He was of the opinion, Monday, that some one even higher than these two solons must have been interested in his appointment because senators and representatives from Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee were supporting men from their states and the power of any of these men should be as great as that of Mr. Bulkley and Mr. Underwood.

It is thought, W. A. Julian, of Cincinnati, recently appointed treasurer, might have been back of Mr. Immell's final selection.

Announcement of the Yellowbud man's appointment was made here several days before it was made in larger cities.

Mr. Immell's appointment to a high government position again gives this vicinity a high official. Renick W. Dunlap, Pickaway-twp, served as assistant director of agriculture in the recent Republican administration.

Mr. Immell's office will be in the Farm Loan bank building.

HUGH W. BRYANT DIES IN WAYNE-TP

Hugh Webster Bryant, aged 57, died at his home in Wayne-twp Monday at 1:50 a. m. of cancer. He had been ill eight months.

Mr. Bryant lived alone along the canal.

He was born in Ross-co a son of Thomas W. and Elizabeth Comer Bryant. He never married.

Surviving are four brothers, Nathaniel, James and Bert of Yellowbud and Charles of Zanesville, and one sister, Mrs. Sophia Goldsberry, Pinckney-st.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at Yellowbud Evangelical church with Rev. C. W. Ruhlman officiating.

Interment will be in Springbank cemetery by M. S. Rinehart. The body will be taken to the home Tuesday morning.

ELKS GATHER AT LODGE HOME HERE

Officers of seven B. P. O. Elks lodges of the district gathered at the local lodge home Sunday afternoon for a conference on lodge problems. Other topics of interest to all the officers were also discussed.

James R. Cooper, Newark, of the rehabilitation committee, was the principal speaker with Dr. J. A. Rockey, of Lancaster, district deputy, also on the program.

Emmitt L. Crist, exalted ruler; Rudolph Gessley, secretary, and Ferd M. Pickens, past exalted ruler, represented the local lodge.

PUPILS HONORED

Winners of eighth grade scholarship tests, in various Ohio counties, have been announced by Ray G. Wood, state director of the tests. In Pickaway-co the following eighth graders won honors; Kenneth Dean, South Bloomfield; Evelyn Gerhardt, Ashville; Dora L. Moore, Tarlton and Cecil Rittenhouse, New Holland.

3 ACCIDENTS ARE REPORTED

Bertie Palm Walks Into Car's Path; Brown Automobile Leaves Road.

Three automobile accidents, none of which proved serious, were reported here over the week-end.

PALM WALKS INTO AUTOMOBILE PATH

Albert 'Bertie' Palm, E. Main-st, suffered minor injuries when he walked into the path of an automobile driven by Homer Davis, Saturday night, on E. Main-st.

Palm was either knocked or fell to the pavement. He was taken to Berger hospital but was immediately discharged.

The automobile stopped within three feet after the accident.

LOWELL BROWN'S AUTO IS DAMAGED

No one was injured late Sunday afternoon when the DeSoto sedan driven by Lowell Brown, Elm-ave, plunged from the roadway between a bridge railing and a fence, and overturned about three miles east of East Ringgold.

Mr. Brown was accompanied by his family but all escaped from the overturned car without even a scratch.

Mr. Brown evidently lost control of the car as he approached the narrow bridge and it swerved between the railing and plunged into the deep ditch.

The top of the car was badly damaged and the front end was slightly damaged. The machine was taken to the Elmer Clifton garage.

ORR AND BROOKS CARS HIT AT SQUARE

Slight damage resulted Sunday evening when the autos of John Orr, W. Main-st barber, and Arthur Brooks, W. Mill-st, collided at Main and Court-sts.

According to reports of the collision the car driven by Brooks was making a left hand turn at the street intersection and the Orr car struck its front right fender.

A bumper was wrenched from the Orr car and the fender was damaged on the Brooks auto.

Insane Farmer Badly Wounds Two, Suicides

OXFORD, Mich., May 22.—Seized with a sudden fit of insanity, Earl Stabler, 45, ran amuck with a hunting rifle here today, critically wounding Mrs. Carrie Shoemaker, 48, and Ernest Judd, 35, before killing himself.

Returning home from a fishing trip, Stabler found that Mrs. Shoemaker, his housekeeper was not on hand to cook his breakfast. Seizing the gun he went to Judd's home where he found Mrs. Shoemaker asleep on a davenport, and Judd and his wife, Florence, sleeping in a bed in the same room.

The madman fired a shot at the bed, hitting Judd. Then he shot Mrs. Shoemaker twice, and fired several times at the walls and windows.

Running into the yard he placed the muzzle of the rifle in his mouth and pulled the trigger.

WORKMAN HURT

Emmitt Brown, E. Mound-st, is in Berger hospital suffering from a torn back muscle he sustained Saturday when he lifted a heavy box at the Cussins and Fearn store, N. Court-st, where he is employed.

FREMONT MAN HEAD OF OHIO EDITORS

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Ross D. McMichael, managing editor of the Fremont Messenger, was elected president of the Blue Pencil Club of Ohio, Sunday, when the organization held its annual meeting in this city. R. M. White, editor of the Millersburg Farmer-Hub, was named vice president, and Norval Neil Luxon, of Ohio State university, secretary-treasurer.

The newspaper workers, all editors of their respective papers, heard talks by Kenneth D. Tooill, editor of the Ohio State Journal; C. H. Harris, managing editor of the Athens Messenger and Paul Reed, managing editor of the Alliance Review.

Glen R. Geib, editor of The Herald, attended the meeting.

Raps F.D.R. Economy

Declaring that "under a young and untried director of the budget," the United States is being reduced to a third class naval power, Senator Arthur Robinson, Republican, of Indiana, assailed President Roosevelt's economy program and Budget Director Lewis Douglas. "Our safety as a nation depends upon our national insurance," Senator Robinson said, "and our national insurance is our national defense."

BANKER MUST FACE CHARGE

Harriman Expected to Leave Hospital; Is Prisoner of Bondsmen.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Recovering from self-inflicted knife wounds and granted a week's continuance in his trial for inspiring false entries of more than $1,000,000 in the books of the bank he founded, Joseph W. Harriman, indicted former head of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company, was expected to be released today from Nassau-co hospital, at Mineola.

The 68-year-old banker was taken to the hospital after plunging a knife into his breast in his room at an inn at Roslyn, Long Island. Harriman was found at the inn in the course of an intensive search following his disappearance from a private hospital here where he had been undergoing treatment for a heart ailment and other illnesses.

Harriman was virtually a prisoner of his bondsmen this morning.

Although police withdrew active surveillance over the banker, two agents of the survey company which posted $25,000 bond for Harriman hovered above his hospital room.

The agents, John Bropson and Herman Paul, declared Harriman was to all intents their prisoner and that as soon as he was discharged from the hospital they would take him before a federal judge and request that his bail be invalidated.

POISONED GIRL MAY YET MAKE RECOVERY

DETROIT, May 22 —Miss Agnes Remsik, pretty 22-year-old Chicago girl who took slow poison a fortnight ago after a quarrel with her fiance, continued today to show some improvement, receiving hospital physicians said.

The girl has hovered near death for a week. Physicians are helpless to aid her. Science knows no antidote for the 13 deadly tablets she swallowed two weeks ago last night.

Blood tests Friday showed the poison was slowly being eliminated from her system. The drug she took usually proves fatal within two weeks.

NEGRO FACES TRIAL FOR SLADE MURDER

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Accused of the first-degree murder of William G. Slade during a robbery last January 30, Fred "Monk" Tossett, 60-year-old negro, went on trial in Criminal court here today.

MOTHER DIES, 2 DAUGHTERS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. Anne Fischer Stevenson, 43, Passes Away Sunday Evening

FUNERAL PRIVATE

Four Weeks' Typhoid Illness is Fatal

Mrs. Anne Fischer Stevenson, wife of Ralph B. Stevenson, died at her home near Ashville Sunday at 8 p. m. The cause of death was para typhoid fever following an illness of four weeks. Two daughters are seriously ill of the same disease.

Mrs. Stevenson was 43 years old and was the daughter of Mrs. Dorothea Fischer, this city, and the late William F. Fischer.

Surviving are her mother; her husband; four children, Mary Ann, Ralph Bentley Jr., Jane and Martha Moorhead Stevenson, all at home, and the following brothers and sisters, Misses Catherine and Eva Fischer, Mrs. S. L. Boger of Detroit, Mich., Rev. Carl D. Fischer of Clyde, O., Will W. Fischer of Ashville, George A. Fischer and Frank Fischer.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. at the home of her mother, 223 Watt-st, with Rev. W. Newton Mantle of the Ashville Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. Friends are asked to call before the funeral. Pall bearers will be Harry G. Stevenson, Bruce Stevenson, Donald H. Watt, Ernest Groce, Will W., and George Fischer.

Burial will be in Forest cemetery in charge of E. F. Schlegel of Ashville. Funeral and burial will be private and it is requested that flowers be omitted.

Court News

TESTIMONY BEGINS

Testimony began Monday morning in the case of F. W. Tweed against Mrs. Winifred Given after the jury, selected shortly after convening, visited the scene of an automobile crash on N. Court-st, the basis of the petition.

Attorneys in the case are C. A. Leist for the plaintiff and Barton Walters for the defendant.

Members of the jury include Mrs. John Bell, Circleville-twp; F. M. Stout, Washington-twp; Ira Crawford, Muhlenberg-twp; Charles Spangler, Darby-twp; J. M. Dountz, Scioto-twp; W. B. Grabill, Scioto-twp; Frank Clark, Jackson-twp; George C. Griffith, third ward; Mrs. George Finch, Scioto-twp; Anna Wing, Deercreek-twp; Harley Walston, Deercreek-twp and Carmel Rasor, Scioto-twp.

Witnesses subpoenaed include Elmer Hampp, John S. Ritt, E. M. Stout and G. H. Adkins for the plaintiff and Adrian Yates and Asa Elsea for the defendant.

HANCOCK SUED

W. K. Sheley, of Jamestown, Greene-co, has filed suit for $15,351.57 from K. P. Hancock, personally and as administrator of the estate of his late father, Clarence A. Hancock.

An injunction has been granted by Judge J. W. Adkins to prevent Judge C. C. Young, of probate court, from approving the final account of Mr. Hancock.

Emmitt L. Crist and Richard Simkins represented Sheley.

GUY CULP BUYS LEIST PROPERTY

Guy Culp, N. Court-st, purchased the property of Jennie and Esta Leist on E. Main-st at a sheriff's sale conducted at the court house. The price was $4,250, only $350 less than the appraised value.

Tom A. Renick was Mr. Culp's attorney.

Hail-stones Wreck Town

Roof Tops Broken, Chickens Killed, Girl Hurt In Village Today.

SHIP HARBOR, N. S., May 22.—One-inch hail stones fell like machine-gun bullets in a terrific storm in the vicinity of Ship Harbor today, crashing through roof tops, breaking nearly every pane of glass in the village, killing chickens, and frightening cattle and horses.

The only human injuries reported were received by a little girl, Erma Marks, who was painfully injured about the head by the pellets of ice which struck her as she ran for shelter.

Twenty-five houses were damaged by the hail stones as they pierced their roofs. The tops of scores of automobiles were riddled and leaded glass windows of the Angelican church were smashed.

JAP ARMIES NEAR PEIPING

Nipponese Report City To Be Occupied By Nightfall; Chinese Deny.

SHANGHAI, May 22.—Japanese reports this afternoon stated Peiping would be occupied by Japanese troops before nightfall.

Chinese circles, however, denied the reports.

Information received by Japanese military headquarters told of the capture of Tungchow, despite the fact previous assurances had been received from Changchun, capital of Manchukue, that there would be no further Japanese advance.

Tungchow, only 13 miles east of Peiping, was taken by two Japanese regiments under Colonels Matsu and Maimoto. The regiments, part of the famous Hatori brigade, pushed on toward Peiping with the Chinese defenders in full retreat.

Escaped Insane Men Sought In St. Louis Today

ST. LOUIS, May 22.—Six inmates of the criminal insane ward of the city sanitarium, three of them described as desperate characters, who escaped after overpowering an attendant remained at large today as police spread a dragnet thoroughout the city.

Those who escaped were Jack De La Casa, 30, former convict; Raymond Jones, 22; Paul Andragna, 21; Harry Leslie Seel, 21; Carl Byington, 29, and John Kaemmerlen, 14. De La Casa, Jones and Andragna were described as the desperate men.

The escape occurred shortly after 7 o'clock last night when De La Casa, who had been handcuffed to his bed called Mont Brawley, 31, attendant. As Brawley leaned over De La Casa's bed, De La Casa, described as the "most powerful man" in the sanitarium, seized Brawley, handcuffed him to the bed and then gagged him. It is believed De La Casa used a duplicate key to free himself. Where he obtained the key was a mystery. De La Casa and Seel, who was in the same room with the former then released Jones and they were joined by Andragna, Byington and Kaemmerlen.

DISMISSAL OF MEN DENIED BY CO. DADS

County commissioners, Monday, denied they had ordered the discharge of four men from the county relief work gang because of their presentation of a petition requesting higher wages.

The commissioners said that the only man ordered from work was Charles Peters, N. Scioto-st, and that the reason for this dismissal was because Peters was really a resident of Pike-co and not of Pickaway.

Continuing, the commissioners said that they did not bear any animosity toward any of the men because of their requesting higher wages and demanding it through a petition, but they said that they would not grant any wage increase because they were not financially able to make any increase.

SIMS COURT WARD

Orrin Sims, 16, of Ashville, indicted with an alleged ring of chicken thieves for burglary and larceny, has been made a ward of the Fairfield-co juvenile court.

U. S. OFFERS FOR PEACE REVEALED

Nation Willing to Abandon Certain Rights, Davis Tells World

PACT IS FAVORABLE

To Abolish Weapons of Aggression

WASHINGTON, May 22.— An indication that the United States will be prepared to abandon certain rights of neutrality to promote universal peace was given to the world today by Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large in a speech before the disarmament conference at Geneva.

Explaining the extent to which the United States is prepared to go, Davis said that in the opinion of the nations, in conference, determine that a state has been guilty of a breach of peace in violation of its international obligations to take measures against the violator, then, if we concur in the judgment rendered as to the responsible and guilty party, we will refrain from any action hampering defeat such collective measures which these states may undertake to restore peace."

WOULD ENTER PACT

America is willing, Davis informed the Geneva delegates, to enter into a consultative pact to participate in an international commission to supervise control of armaments; and to join with other powers in abolishing offensive weapons of warfare, such as heavy mobile artillery, large tanks, poison gas, etc.

Announcing that the United States was prepared to go in other ways than merely by exerting influence, Davis outlined the steps that the United States was willing to take as follows:

"As regards the elevel of armaments," he said, "we are prepared to go as far as the other states in the way of reductions.

"We feel the ultimate objective should be to reduce armaments approximately to the level established by the peace treaties, that is, to bring armaments as soon as possible through successive stages down to the basis of a domestic police force.

"In particular, as emphasized by President Roosevelt, we are prepared to join other nations in abolishing weapons of an aggressive character which not only are the more costly to construct and maintain but at present are those most likely to lead to a breach of the peace. To cut power of offense and remove the threat of surprise attack would do more than anything else to lessen the danger of a war.

FOLLOW MACDONALD

"A few weeks ago the British prime minister submitted a detailed proposal which embodies many of the features of the American plan of last year. As the British proposal represents a real measure of disarmament, we accept it wholeheartedly as a definite and excellent step toward the ultimate objective. We therefore are prepared to give our full support to the adoption of this plan."

PICKAWAY SCHOOL PROGRAM TUESDAY

Rev. S. L. Metzler delivered a splendid baccalaureate sermon to an unusually large crowd at the Pickaway-twp school auditorium Sunday evening. Music was furnished by a choir of 35 undergraduates directed by Miss Mary Radcliffe.

Commencement will be held Tuesday evening with Dr. Henry J. Arnold, of Wittenberg college, delivering the address. Music will be furnished by the Capital university faculty orchestra. There is no admission to the service.

FAIR DATES SET

COLUMBUS, May 22.—Approximately 100 county and independent fairs will be held in Ohio this year, it was revealed today in tentative dates filed with the state department of agriculture.

Among the fair dates tentatively selected are: Belmont County fair at St. Clairsville, Sept 13-14; inclusive; Coshocton County Fair at Coshocton, Oct. 3 to 7; Dubware County Fair at Powell, Aug. 23-25; Monroe County fair at Woodsfield, Aug. 9-11; Circleville Pumpkin Show at Circleville, Oct. 4-7; Richwood Independent Fair at Richwood, Aug. 8-11.

Local Lawyers Plan To Attend District Confab

A number of local attorneys are planning to attend the district meeting of the Ohio State bar association at Chillicothe on Saturday, June 3. Some excellent talks are in prospect.

Following registration a noon luncheon will be held at the Chillicothe Country club with Hon. A. R. Johnson, of Ironton, senior member of the executive committee of the state bar association, to address the lawyers.

A round-table discussion will be held in the afternoon with John A. Poland, Chillicothe, presiding. Charles H. Jones, Jackson legislator, will speak on laws enacted by the general assembly, and Carlton Dargusch, member of the state tax commission will speak, and Henry G. Binns, Columbus, member of the bar association committee on judicial administration and legal reform, will outline a proposal to abolish the office of justice of the peace and create an inferior court system. Robert N. Wilkin, of New Philadelphia, will speak at the same meeting on selection and tenure of judges.

A banquet will be held at the Warner hotel in the evening with Robert Guinther, of Akron, president of the State Bar association, making a few remarks and Hon. H. H. McKeehan, of Cleveland, to be the principal speaker. Judge Craig McBride, of Hillsboro, will be toastmaster.

Other counties besides Pickaway and Ross in this district are Clinton, Jackson, Vinton, Fairfield, Hocking, Fayette, Athens, Pike, Scioto, Lawrence, Highland and Adams.

TREGO IN FORM

Ability of 'Red' Trego, Commercial Point athlete, again helped the Capital university track team when Otterbein was defeated Saturday, 66-65.

Trego gave the 'Cap' harriers a lead in the first event when he won the broad jump. He then finished second in the 100-yard dash while his team-mate, Schiff won the event.

GOLFERS CAVORT

Circleville high school's golf team was taking part, this afternoon, in the Central Buckeye league meet over the Arlington course. Johnny Mader, Bob Friece, Lee Cook and Charlie Glitt were to make up the team.

Much opposition is expected from the Grandview quartet which won the central district contest over other competing schools.

After Welter Crown

With his eye on the welterweight title, Jim McLarnin, who has laid many champions low, but never wore a crown, is pictured as he trained for his forthcoming bout with Young Corbett, welterweight champion, at Los Angeles. They'll battle for the title at Wrigley Field May 29.

Bam "Pals" With Heroic Orphans

Once an orphan boy himself, Babe Ruth, America's baseball hero, retains a warm spot in his heart for parentless children. The mighty swatter of the New York Yankees is here shown amid an enthusiastic group composed of the Passaic (N. J.) orphan boys who recently saved an Erie R. R. express from destruction by flagging it to a stop.

Daily Drama

By International News Service

The Heroes—Walter Miller, White Sox, and Wild Bill Hallahan, Cardinals. Each pitched a two-hit game, Miller blanking Washington 6 to 0 in his first start of the year and Hallahan beating the Giants, 2 to 1, in the first game of a double-header.

The goat—Frank O'Doul, Brooklyn. After hitting two homers in the first game of a twin bill with the Cubs, he lost the game in the tenth by failing to catch DeMaree's short fly and then dropping Douthit's fly.

MILTON'S "STUDENT" ENTERS BIG CONTEST

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 22.—A driver who took a post graduate course in automobile racing from a great dean of speed will be in the annual 500-mile competition at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on May 30.

He is Bob McDonogh, known in racing circles as the "Frisco Flash," who can tool a car about a speedway as smoothly as a ball room dance team does a tango and who was taught his trade by the famous Tommy Milton, only two time winner of the Decoration Day classic.

McDonogh had barely passed the voting age when Milton took a liking to the keen eyed youngster from California. The great master first gave his protege a course in automobile mechanics and taught him the tricks of the trade from a black board. Before he even came close to a track, McDonogh could almost assemble a race car in the dark and then the totor prepared to make a driver out of him.

The "Frisco Flash" did not have to come up to racing the hard way—through the dust and dirt of the smaller tracks. Milton put him through his lessons in driving much like a music master would train an ambitious young piano student.

HOT DUCK MATCH SCHEDULED AT 7

One of the most interesting bowling matches of the season is expected to be held this evening on the Circleville Recreation alleys when the Herdman-Leasure team, holder of the alley record, meets the Bob Maloney team.

The match is scheduled for 7 p. m.

The Herdman-Leasure outfit has twice topped the mark which won the Kentucky state duck-pin tournament and have shown real form. The men Maloney has selected on his team should give the record-holders a stiff argument.

DAVIS SCORES

New Holland's track team, rather Pete Davis, scored eight points in the state track and field meet held at Columbus Friday and Saturday.

The 'B' meet was won by Mentor with 26 points while Lakeside with 16 was second. Cleveland East Tech won the class 'A' title with Lakewood second.

New Holland's points were scored in the high jump where Davis finished in a tie for fourth; in the broad jump where Davis won fourth; in the 100-yard dash where the youth again took fourth, and in the 440-yard dash where he finished third.

STARS PLAY HERE

A large crowd of golfers was cavorting on the Pickaway Country club course this afternoon when a district pro-amateur contest was held. Many of the state's best club-wielders were displaying their wares before a large crowd of spectators.

BOTH LEAGUES ARE OPEN FOR HOT SCRAMBLE

Reversal of Form Show In National; Four Teams Have Chance In A. L.

NEW YORK, May 22.—"Pennant dope" was scrambled today by startling form reversals in both major leagues.

A prophet attempting to pick flag winners on the basis of recent returns would wind up cutting paper dolls. In the National league are the New York Giants behind the league-leading Pirates as the result of losing five straight games on the heels of a five game winning streak; the Cubs losing five straight and then winning four in a row; Brooklyn smacking the Cardinals down in three successive games and then losing all three of their games with the Cubs; and the Cards sweeping their four-game series with the Giants after taking it on the chin from Brooklyn.

The American league race is a wide open, four-cornered scramble with the fourth-place Cleveland Indians only a game and a half behind the leading Yankees today as the two clubs begin one of those "croocial" series.

BROWNS IN FORM

The St. Louis Browns, of all people—the same Brownies who won only one game from New York in 1927—humbled the champions for the second time in a row yesterday, 8 to 4. St. Louis piled up 15 hits while "Bumps" Bradley held the Yanks to four, but Hadley was in hot water all the way. He walked eight men and Combs got a homer with two on base when Ted Gullic lost his fly in the sun.

Russ Van Atta, star Yank rookie from St. Paul, started the game and was charged with his first defeat of the season.

Unlooked for strength was added to the pitching staff of the Chicago White Sox when Walter Miller, the old Cleveland southpaw, making his first start of the year for Chicago, held Washington to two hits, both singles, and won in a romp, 6 to 0. Al Simmons drove in four runs with two doubles.

Wild Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals turned in another two-hitter in taking a 2 to 1 duel from Carl Hubbell of the Giants in the first game of a twin bill. Old Jess Haines, making his first start of the year for St. Louis in the night-cap, was kayoed but the Cards pounded three Giant pitchers and won 8 to 4.

O'DOUL IS HELD

The champion Cubs, playing like wildfire since the report got about last week that all of them were about to get the sack, two-timed Brooklyn, 7 to 6 and 6 to 3. Lefty O'Doul hit two homers for the Dodgers in the opener but lost the game in the tenth inning when he failed to hold on to a fly ball. Pat Malone outpitched Walter Beck in the second game.

The Phils and Reds divided a double bill, Cincinnati taking the night cap 4 to 2 after losing the opener, 3 to 1.

The Boston Red Sox got handsome returns on a recent investment when Lloyd Brown, southpaw bought from the Browns, held Detroit to six hits and won a 2 to 0 decision over Vic Sorrell. As a result, back bay fans were treated to the unusual spectacle of the tail-end Sox capturing a series, two games to one.

It takes three generations to make a gentleman, but one charge account can make a lady.

FARM CREDITS LAW IS IMMEDIATE AID

The agricultural credits section of the Farm Act recently made law by act of Congress and the signature of the President provides for immediate relief to mortgage ridden Ohio farmers.

This section of the bill, according to J. I. Falconer, chief of the department of rural economics at the Ohio State university, enables the federal land banks to issue bonds, and from the proceeds to reduce, under certain conditions, the principal of farm mortgages and the rate of interest, and to extend the time of payment. Other provisions are for short time loans and for second mortgages.

The new law provides for the reduction of interest rate to not more than 4 1-2 per cent on all loans made by the federal land banks which have, heretofore, charged interest rates of 5 to 5 1-2 per cent. Up to 1932 the federal land banks had loaned to 9250 Ohio farmers about $35,000,000.

TO DELAY PAYMENTS

A second provision of the law makes possible the postponement of payment toward the principal of the debt provided interest payments are made.

Loans taken out at a higher rate of interest than 4 1-2 per cent may be refinanced. The borrower may borrow from the federal land bank up to 50 per cent of the normal value of the land and up to 20 per cent of the value of permanent improvements on the farm. Means for refinancing are provided by the issuance of bonds by the federal government, up to 2 billion dollars.

Second mortgages also are provided for. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is directed by the law to make available to the farm loan bank commissioners $200,000,000. This money is to be used for making loans up to 75 per cent of the normal value of farm property, real and personal, including crops.

Rate of interest on these second mortgages shall not exceed 5 per cent, nor shall the loans extend more than 10 years. During the first three years of this time interest on the loan only is required; no payments on principal will be required until the fourth year.

AID REFINANCING

This second mortgage provision, according to Dr. Falconer, is intended primarily for the assistance of farmers who have large loans to refinance.

For further information about the credits section of the farm act farmers are directed to the secretary of the farm loan association which serves their area. There are 85 such associations in Ohio. If none serves in a farmer's district he may take up the matter directly with the Federal Land Bank of Louisville, which serves the Ohio area.

G.O.P. FIGHTS LONGER TERM FOR OFFICIAL

Schorr To Lead Referendum Effort To Cause Defeat Of Bills.

COLUMBUS, May 22.—A statewide referendum is being planned by Republican state headquarters in an effort to defeat term-extender bills which have been voted for county officials by the legislature.

State Chairman Ed Schorr was reported to be at the head of the movement.

The campaign will be directed at bills already passed which extend the terms of county clerks and county recorders from two to four years, giving a two-year extension to all those now holding office. The Republicans contend that the principal beneficiaries of the two acts will be Democrats who were elected last November.

A fight may also be waged by the Republicans against term-extender bills to benefit prosecutors, sheriffs, coroners and treasurers, which are now pending before the assembly.

A bill to lengthen the terms of prosecutors was passed by the state senate Thursday, and was sent to the house of representatives. Senator Paul Yoder (D), of Dayton, who introduced it, then introduced a similar measure for sheriffs, coroners, and treasurers.

Schorr, it was learned, has been conferring with Ohio Republican leaders for several weeks about asking for a referendum.

The Democratic make-up of the legislature will be pointed to as one of the principal arguments against the bills, and the opponents will assert that the legislation was designed to benefit Democrats. Democrats, however, declare that four-year terms are "necessary and logical" for efficient county government.

SENT FROM TOWN

Osborn Sayre, 17, Ripley, W. Va., was given orders by local police Monday to go back to his home just as fast as his feet would take him there, following his arrest by Officer McCrady who took him into custody on Corwin-st where he was begging for food.

After detainment in the city prison, Sayre started for his home from which he had run away about three weeks ago.

SUMMER SESSION AT NORTHERN TO OPEN ON JUNE 13

ADA, May 22.—Ohio Northern university will open for the sixty-second annual summer session, on Tuesday, June 13, with registration and payment of fees. Inquiries received indicate that the enrollment for the summer session will be larger than that of last summer, and university officials are expecting a substantial increase in attendance.

Plans for the session include an unusually large number of course offerings in the division of teacher training in the college of liberal arts. Model schools for the training of cadet teachers will be established in two public schools in Lima. Two model schools are to be established in Ada also.

In addition to the courses offered under the division of teacher training, a full schedule of courses will also be given in the other departments of the liberal arts college, especially in the departments of music and physical education.

Movie Fans Grateful

THE federal trade commission has made one ruling that will win for that body the everlasting thanks of the American motion picture public.

The commission recently issued a ruling barring from exhibition any jungle film that was not made under the conditions set forth in the advertisements of the picture. A great number of jungle films which the producers claimed were made in the "heart of Africa" or other wild territory, have been exhibited in the last year or two. Civilized beings have a peculiar interest in savages and other inhabitants of the untamed parts on the earth's surface. There is an immediate and popular response to the first of these pictures. Producers quickly saw a gold mine in such films, and there was a flood of them.

Some of the films may have been made under the conditions named, but it did not require the vision of the trade commission to see that observant fans that many of them were not. According to the commission, the main parts in some of them were "shot" in Hollywood and the Los Angeles area. Negro children, attired in loin cloths and smiles—and sometimes without the former—were used as African pygmies. Numerous other deceptions were practiced, according to the commission.

Henceforth the latter is to see to it that there shall be no repetition of them.

The people may like to be fooled but after they find out they are being fooled they want that particular form of deception to stop.

The Russian Navy

A REMINDER of how well a nation can keep its naval strength a secret comes in reports from Helsingfors that Soviet Russia is preparing for a fleet demonstration in the Baltic.

Although other governments through their secret agents probably have a certain amount of information relative to the size and strength of the Russian fleet, there is almost a total lack of authentic public information on the subject. Unauthoritative reports have listed three battleships, four cruisers, two mine layers, 17 destroyers and 29 submarines as making up the fleet.

Formidable fleets at one time were maintained by Russia in the Baltic and the Black sea. The Kronstadt revolt in 1921 and the activities of the White Russians, however, were said by soviet officials to have virtually destroyed these, but reports since then have indicated that the government was engaged in an effort to restore its sea power. How far it has gone in this attempt is not known.

Reports are current in Helsingfors that much attention has been given to the development of a powerful naval air force to include bombers capable of destroying large warships and merchant vessels.

The coming Baltic domonstration should afford an opportunity for the world to learn what to expect or to fear from a Russian navy. It may result in a new element being injected into disarmament discussions.

THE CHALLENGE OF LOVE

by WARWICK DEEPING

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

"Thirty years ago they tried to break me, to get me out of Navestock. They couldn't do it," Crabbe went on.

Wolfe's face had grown keen and hugely intent. He watched this little man and felt a gradual and grim respect for him. Josiah Crabbe was what he pretended to be, a bit of granite, hard, clean, and solid. Men hated him—the men who were weaker and less sincere than he was—and he cherished this hatred, knowing it to be the surest homage that he could receive.

They stared at each other for a moment without speaking. Then Josiah Crabbe leaned back in his chair.

"Thirty years ago they tried to break me, to get me out of Navestock."

Wolfe nodded.

"They couldn't do it. I had my piece of rock. It was a small bit then. But they broke their picks on it. They are going to break their picks—on you."

He leaned forward with a certain dramatic fierceness, his hands gripping the arms of the chair.

"Do you take me? You are going to stay in Navestock!"

"How is that?"

"Because I have been waiting for you for the last ten years."

"My dear sir."

"I say that I have been waiting for you for the last ten years. That's plain, isn't it? Not an easy matter to find men, I tell you. Good Gosh! Just think of the flabby folk who swell themselves out to look big and solid. All wind! I want a man who has fought, who has roughed it—who can hit. A strong body and a long arm—you've got 'em. I'm a good judge."

"Thank you."

Josiah Crabbe whisked up his handkerchief, and waved it as a bull-fighter might brandish a red flag.

"See! Turrell and the whole crew, ready to charge you out of the town. Hang it all—are they going to do just as they please? I've been waiting to fight 'em for ten years. I was in no hurry; I could bide my time. I knew I could force this on some day. The town has been hanging rotten ripe for years. Old Threadgold knows it. You know it. I say that you are going to stay."

Wolfe tilted his chair on its hind legs, his face half-grim, half-amused.

"You may say that, Mr. Crabbe, but the staying is a different matter."

"You are going to attend me."

"If necessary."

"I say that you are going to attend me."

"What about Threadgold?"

"Threadgold be darned! I have not had a pill from him for twenty years. Do you think I would have that bag of chicken food inside my house! He's Turrell's man; he's in with the rest of them. You are my doctor. See?"

"No, I don't."

"Where's your objection?"

"You don't need a doctor."

"Don't I! Can't I have a man to look after me if I want him? Confound it, it's my affair! Look here, you will visit me three times a week at a guinea a visit."

"I can't do it."

"I say you shall."

"The money wouldn't be earned."

"Man, you're a fool! Don't you see I want to give you a start here without flicking your accursed pride? If an old man wants to do a thing—can't a young man grant him the favour?"

"In three months we might have quarrelled."

"No."

"Why not?"

"Men who can hit out square and straight may fight, but they don't quarrel."

Wolfe's eyes gleamed.

"That's true."

Presently he said:

"A man cannot make war without guns and ammunition."

"What do you mean?"

"Drugs, instruments, bottles."

"Buy them."

"I may not care to sink my piece of rock in a bog."

"Buy them."

"And take the risk?"

"If I put down fifty pounds on this table, you would throw up your chin. You are made that way. How much have you got?"

"Forty pounds."

"Spend thirty."

"Hum."

"Take rooms. Put up a plate. Hire a nag."

"And current expenses?"

"Listen. In a month you will be earning five pounds a week. That's rock. In a year it will be ten pounds a week. I'll put my word to that. In ten years——"

Wolfe rose, walked to the window, and remained there awhile in thought.

"Give me three days," he said presently.

"Take them, and think it over."

Half a dozen girls in a two-horse wagonette bound for a picnic on Beacon Hill passed John Wolfe about three hundred yards below the white gate of the Moor Farm paddock. The upward slope of the road was fairly sharp here, and the wagonette eased to a walk some twenty yards ahead of the man on foot. Half a dozen inquisitive profiles turned abruptly under the shade of straw hats and bonnets. There was a little tittering, and a significant nudging of elbows.

Miss Edith Wilks—the great dame of the party—occupied one of the end seats next to the door. Her skirts had lengthened a week ago, and her hair bundled itself into a black net. Erect and stiff, her gloved hands in her lap, she turned a condescending head for a moment, and gave Wolfe a very superior stare.

"What a vulgar person!"

"Look at his boots!"

"I thought the man had gone."

"Father said that he was staying at some common public-house."

"I think he is rather good-looking."

"Oh, Ethel, how can you!"

"Well, I like tall men. And he looks clever."

"What nonsense! And he's trying to be grand and haughty; just look."

"Well, anyway, he doesn't gawk."

These friends of Miss Wilks's were young ladies who had grown up in the rarefied atmosphere of genteel homes. Their correctness was the correctness of the backboard and the music-stool. They had family prayers every morning before breakfast, sedate walks, an abundance of piano rattling, edifying books, religious romances, hours of genteel boredom every Sunday.

Someone pointed, and whispered, "Jess!"

A tittering simmer of excitement spread through the party. Heads were turned abruptly away from Wolfe. One or two bonnets protruded over the sides of the wagonette.

"She's there."

"That old green frock, too, and no crinoline!"

"Has she got her basket? The plums and greengages ought to be ripe at the farm."

"Ssh—don't you see!"

"What?"

"He's going there."

"No!"

"Don't giggle, Katie, it is not nice."

Hobby for Relaxation And Health

Cultivate One Which Is Interesting and Diverting

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

I RECENTLY visited a home where the children of my host entertained me by showing their collection of stamps, shells and flowers.

The boy, with his assortment of stamps, was only ten years of age. He was happy with his hobby and had a lot to say about distant parts of the globe. I am confident he learned more about geography from his stamp collection than from his school atlas.

These children were enthusiastic about their hobbies. The parents were proud of their children's accomplishments and encouraged them in every way. I was pleased with this picture because it is my firm belief that hobbies are beneficial for the child as well as the adult.

Relax Mind and Body

Many neurologists claim that hobbies prevent severe emotional and physical distress. They claim that fewer cases of nervous breakdown would occur if more of us had real hobbies. Hobbies are beneficial because they relax the mind, nerves and body. The child, man or woman who has a hobby is indeed fortunate.

I am often asked what type of hobby I recommend. This is difficult to answer. A certain hobby may appeal to one person and prove unattractive to another. One man may devote all his time to golf, whereas another man will cultivate an interest in old books or pictures. One child may collect stamps, and another may delight in tinkering with radios, motors or chemicals.

A hobby must be developed and not forced. So far as health is concerned, it is only successful if it furnishes enjoyment, pleasure and gratification. It must be a soothing pastime if it is to relieve the everyday strain of life.

May Disclose Talents

Bear in mind that the child who has a hobby carries through life a weapon against idle hours and misdirected energy. As in the home I visited, children derive knowledge from a hobby, knowledge which is sometimes difficult to teach at school. A hobby may disclose talent in literature, music, painting, drawing or writing.

Many parents realize the value of a hobby and are prompted to ask how one can be developed. As a rule, a hobby just comes of itself, by accident probably. Parents can aid their children by directing them and guilding them in whatever special interests they display.

Encourage hobbies! It is not necessary to have expensive equipment or special training. A minimum of expense and equipment usually leads to the most enjoyable and successful experiences.

Answers to Health Queries

S. B. Q.—When I become excited, my face becomes terribly red, this is very embarrassing and I would like to know how to overcome it?

A.—This is a perfectly natural condition. Try to control yourself as much as possible.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

COURSE, nobody knows how long the girls will keep it up, but the craze for wearing men's clothes has gone pretty far. On some of these hiking trips, and even on the golf links, it's getting impossible to tell when you had better swear and when you hadn't.

Anyway, there was a hiking party in the mountains this summer, and one man says to the individual that was walking along beside him. "Just look at that girl ahead of us with her hair cut short just like ours, and plain men's clothes out and out! Why, I think that's going too far. She looks a fright, and so do all these women that dress like men."

"That's my daughter, and I think she looks all right," says the other one.

"Oh, well, of course, if I'd a-known you were her father——"

"But I ain't. I'm her mother."

And the other fellow didn't have another word to say.

The Housewife's Question Box

Question:—What materials are best suited to young children's summer clothing?

Answer:—Of all our materials cotton is the most ideal for children's summer clothing. Of course your choice of a material will depend on its use. There are the sturdy materials such as percale, gingham, print, broadcloth, madras, pique, suiting and seersucker crepe. These are especially suited to little boys' suits and general-wear dresses for little girls. For little girls' dress-up dresses, there are such materials as the thinner printed muslins, voile, batiste, lawn, organdie, and swiss. Most of these materials may be had in qualities and colors that will stand frequent laundering and much exposure to sun without serious damage; both of which are important requisites of materials for young children's summer clothing. Careful laundering with a mild soap and only lukewarm water and hanging in the shade to dry helps preserve the dainty colors of many cotton materials and keeps them new and fresh looking. A little starch in the last rinse helps to prevent mussing and keeps the material clean longer.

AT THE GRAND

The sweetheart of Sigma Chi. Why Sigma Chi? That's hard to say except that that's what they used to call the girls on the campus who were always being seen with all the eligible young men.

For as long as anyone can remember—well, at least for the past three years—they've been reporting Mary Brian engaged to one young man or another around Hollywood.

Buddy Rogers, Russell Gleason, Jack Oakie, Dick Powell, Phillips Holmes, George O'Brien, Rudy Vallee, Biff Hoffman, Mervyn LeRoy and Orville Mohler are just a few of the young men who have been reported as willing to "lay hem down and dee" for the charming Mary.

A list of the names was waved in front of Mary Brian at Warner Bros. studio, when she was working opposite James Cagney in his new picture, "Hard To Handle," at the Grand Theatre tonight.

AT THE CLIFTONA

That the historic settings of "Gabriel Over the White House," sensational drama of an American President, tonight and Tuesday at the Cliftona Theatre, are entirely authentic was made certain by the presence at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio of Eugene Thackeray expert on national affairs.

Thackeray qualifies on knowledge of the White House by virtue of eight years as White House correspondent for the New York World. He started his career during the last part of Wilson's administration and served at various intervals during the administrations of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

It was with his guidance that the offices and study of the President were reproduced exactly, as were also the East, Blue, Red and Green Rooms of the executive mansion. He also advised Director Gregory La Cava in the minute details of such ceremonies as the Presidential Inauguration, the signing of the "Hammond Treaty" for war debt payments and the President's procedure when meeting a guest, such as a meeting between President Jud Hammond and Nick Diamond, King of Racketeers, in the present picture.

County-wide farm meetings held in 75 counties in April, called by county agricultural agents to discuss legislation, farm relief, mortgage relief, and co-operation, were attended by 7,324 people.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

A Tidy Business

By IRVIN S. COBB

DURING the Great War one of the British training camps was established at a convenient point on the seacoast. Certain of the recruits who hailed from remote interior points, never had seen salt water before their arrival. On the morning when they reached camp, two of these greenhorns—fresh-cheeked up-country yokels—took a stroll along the shore. The proprietor of a bathing-machine—or as we would put it, the owner of a series of bathhouses—importuned them to " 'ave a dip."

The benefit of sea-bathing were picturesquely recounted. But there was nothing doing. As a last effort, the resourceful manager offered to deliver a couple of pails of the briny at the billets of the newcomers on the understanding that they were to give it a fair trial, per the sponge route, and if found refreshing were to pay sixpence per pail for it. The offer was accepted.

The next morning the recruits, duly refreshed, went down to the shore to pay their sixpences. They arrived at a time when the tide was at its lowest ebb and were met by a broad expanse of sand where water had been the day before.

"My word!" cried out one of them, "but that chap 'as done a big business since yesterday."

Did you ever stop to think

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee Okla.

John J. Connors, advertising manager of the Albany (N. Y.) News and the Knickerbocker Press, says:

"Burns said 'The best laid schemes o' mice and men gang aft a-gley,'

"A certain executive started out to advertise through magazines the advantages of a certain brand of oranges. He dressed his advertisements up with beautiful colored backgrounds of sun - drenched scenes. He was surprised to find he was selling tourist tickets, not oranges.

"Another business leader engaged a clever and popular comedian to sing and joke his product into the homes. Everybody seemed to enjoy the comedian's entertainment. But when the man who paid the bills applied the unsentimental calipers of business, he found the singer was warbling his way into fat stage and movie contracts, but the real purpose of the undertaking, the sale of his product, was overlooked.

"Advertisements that sell the most goods at a profit seldom cause people to congregate on the street corners to discuss them as advertisements. The discussion that results usually is about the article offered for sale. Ask yourself what other type of advertising can give you these advantages, a few of those presented by the newspaper:

An open path to the mind through the most receptive sense, the sight.

A chance to reach that mind at any time. The newspaper awaits the convenience of the reader.

Attractive illustrations, adequate descriptions of the product, real reasons for a purchase.

Cordial invitation into the home (readers pay for newspapers), while canvassers and handbills often fail of admission.

Sought-after news in adjoining columns, from which the eye is readily attracted into advertising copy.

Confidence. Years of reputable newspaper publishing have shown the reader he is protected against fraud.

Timely messages. (If it rains tonight, you'll see galoshes and rubbers advertised tomorrow.

Informing the reader where to buy by listing in the advertisement local stores where articles may be purchased.

Selected markets. Raincoats don't sell in the Arizona desert and Florida people buy fewer furs.

Low economical rates.

"It is quite natural that newspapers should and do carry more advertising than all other forms combined."

Trees to the number of 2,750,000 were planted in Ohio this spring. Distribution was by the forestry division of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, assisted by county agricultural agents. Students of vocational agriculture planted 450,000; 4-H club members set out 100,000.

JACKSON-TWP ALUMNI BANQUET HELD SATURDAY

Blue and silver, colors of the graduating class of the Jackson-twp. school, were used in the decorations for the annual banquet given by the Jackson Alumni association at the school building Saturday evening. Covers were laid for eighty for the dinner at attractive tables centered with blue iris and white snow balls and lighted by blue candles. An artistic centerpiece of pink tea roses was used at the graduates' table.

The dinner was in charge of Mrs. Fannie Brooks, president of the association, who was assisted by Mrs. George Shook, Mrs. James Wolford, Mrs. C. L. Black and Miss Bernice Rowe.

Following the dinner hour, Mrs. Fay Nothstine Wolford gave a reading, "On the Road to Mandalay." George McDowell, school superintendent, introduced the senior class including Miss Roma Melvin, president; Festus Walters, vice president; Elizabeth Fisher, secretary; Gerald Majors, treasurer; Gladys Peters, Pearl Fausnaugh, Evelyn Fortner, Eleanor Anderson, Ruth James, Caroline Rowe, Francis Clark and Ray Wagner.

Miss Mary Shortridge, toastmistress, gave the welcome address with response by Miss Melvin.

The election of officers was in charge of Howard Stevenson, retiring vice president, and results were Miss Annabelle Barch, president; Mrs. Bernard Porter, Columbus, vice president; and Mrs. Wendell Meteer, Columbus, secretary-treasurer.

ASHVILLE GIRL MARRIED SUNDAY AT FUTURE HOME

Miss Kathleen Isabel Messick, of Ashville, and Mr. Theodore Swope Glick, Columbus, exchanged nuptial vows at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in their future home at 1036 Wilson-ave, Columbus, in the presence of the immediate families.

Rev. John Chandler, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Prospect, O., read the rites. Miss Lucille Hinkle, of Garrettsville, was maid of honor and Mr. Wendell Glick, of Cleveland, brother of the bridegroom acted as best man.

For her wedding, the bride wore a pale pink flat crepe dress with pale blue accessories and carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and delphiniums.

Miss Hinkle wore a deep pink flat crepe dress with white accessories and carried an arm bouquet of premier superior roses.

After the ceremony the couple left for a two weeks' motor trip to Florida.

Mr. Glick is affiliated with the Lattimer-Stevens Co., and his bride is associated with the Paramount Pictures Distributing corporation.

OUTING ENJOYED BY GARDEN CLUB SUNDAY

Eleven members of the Pickaway-co Garden club enjoyed an outing Sunday, when they motored to Rock Run, near Jackson, to see magnolias in bloom. A picnic lunch was enjoyed after which the group explored the rocks with Leslie Pontius as their guide.

The party stopped at a number of interesting places on its return home to see the various wild flowers and ferns. The group was comprised of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pontius, Floyd Bartley, Mrs. Orion King, Mrs. Fred Cook and son, Mrs. Frank Marion and daughter, Miss Virginia Marion, Miss Mattie Crum, this city, and Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap, Williamsport.

SALES TAX

sales tax is not known. Thirteen of the 24 committeemen must give their approval to vote the bill out. On a motion made last Thursday to kill the bill, the vote was 9 to 9.

Those upon whom the burden apparently rests are Reps. Patrick J. Dunn (D) of Tuscarawas-co, George E. Niswonger (D) of Dayton, James Roberts (R) of Canton, and Richard S. Douglas (D) of Cleveland.

Various strategies were considered over the week-end by the administration in the hope of eliminating criticism of the bill. One was the exemption of all purchases under 25 cents from taxation.

SOVIET HOPEFUL OF RECOGNITION

MOSCOW, May 22 — Declaring the isolationist policy of the United States at an end, the Soviet press occupied itself today with the topic nearest its heart—American recognition.

Za Industrialsaza, organ of heavy industry, bid for recognition, by advancing dollar and cents arguments in support of it. . . . . "We are for normal diplomatic relations with the U. S. A.," the paper declared. "But such relations do not belong to the category of philanthropy. They rest upon economics.

"t remains for the Roosevelt new deal to clarify Soviet-American trade relations, and there is only one road to follow."

WET SPRING HALTS FARM CROP PLANS

The wet and backward spring season has delayed the planting of oats, barley and corn from two to four weeks in Ohio and has upset the plans of farmers who intended the seeding of grasses and legumes.

Crops specialists of the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service offer the following suggestions to those whose cropping plans are in a tangle:

"Planting of oats and barley as late as the last half of May is probably inadvisable except in the extreme northeast part of Ohio," they say. "In other sections yields from such plantings may be expected to be less than one-half of a normal crop.

"Grass or legume seedings, alone or with companion crops, made in late May or early June have little chance of succeeding because weed growth is extremely rapid in that period. Where such seedings were to have been made in early spring, the land should be fallowed until July 1, at least, and then seeded in midsummer with alfalfa, clovers, or timothy.

"Delay seeding, then, until moisture is actually at hand, in the entire plow layer of the soil. Land fallowed for several weeks after plowing receives and retains more water. Summer seedings should not be made before July 1. With the exception of timothy, they should be made as soon after this date as the soil is in favorable condition. Timothy in mixture should not be sown until August.

"Crops suggested for provision of hay for 1934, if the soil is suitable for their growth, are: alfalfa; red, mammoth and alsike clovers; timothy in mixture, and timothy alone.

"Much can be done to hasten the maturity of corn through fertilization. Adequate applications of fertilizer in the row or in the hill will hasten maturity two to four days on dark colored upland and on bottom soils, and four to seven days on light colored uplands.

"Selection of shorter seasoned varieties or strains offer a second means of gaining time. For bottom lands in southern Ohio the shorter seasoned varieties normally grown on adjacent uplands are suggested. Northern Ohio grown varieties and strains may be used in southern and central Ohio. Unusually early strains from northern Ohio and Michigan may be used in the northern half of the state.

"Soybeans fit in admirable fashion into the gap left by curtailed spring grain and corn plantings. The soybean may be used on the farm or marketed, and it is not too late to seed it. Even in normal times there is not a surplus of this crop. For hay, seeding may be done as late as the third week in June in most localities in the state. A seed crop may be secured if planted before June 15, provided early strains, such as Manchu, Illini, and Danfield, are used.

On those farms now short of hay or pasture, owing to failure of grass seedings in 1931 and 1932, sudan grass may be sown on those acres intended for barley or oats. Proper date for seeding sudan grass is normally June 1 to 20."

While Babies Cry for It!

Scenes like this, showing striking dairymen pouring milk over the highway, are now an almost hourly occurrence in Wisconsin, where the milk war has reached the dangerous stage. Governor Schmedeman recently announced his determination to deal firmly with the situation and has sent several hundred National Guardsmen to the affected area, swearing them in as deputy sheriffs.

Mooney To Tell Story On Stand?

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Thomas J. Mooney on the witness stand.

That was the exciting probability today—Mooney telling his story in a court room for the first time—his denial of the charges that he was implicated in the bomb tossing of 1916 which claimed 10 lives.

The likelihood that the famous prisoner would take the stand in a hearing of a long dormant murder indictment—he was convicted on one and six were dismissed—was seen because—

1. All indications pointed to a refusal on the part of the state supreme court to interfere with the trial, scheduled to start before Superior Judge Louis H. Ward tomorrow.

2. The ruling of Judge Ward when the case was first called a month ago that Mooney had the right "to deny from his own lips the accusations against him."

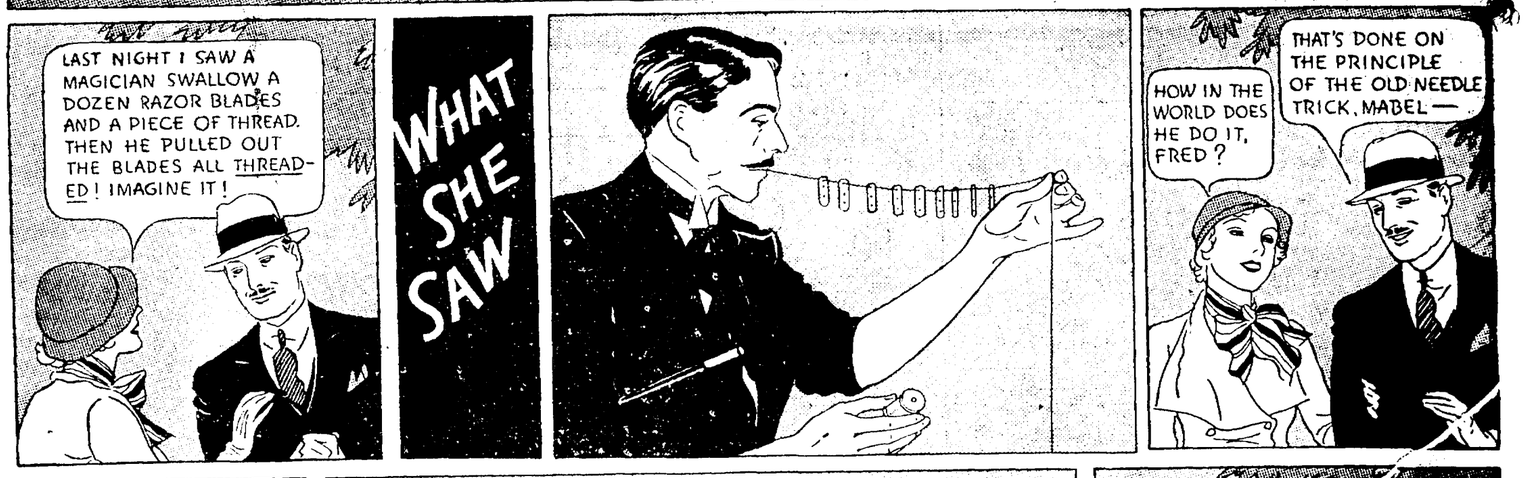
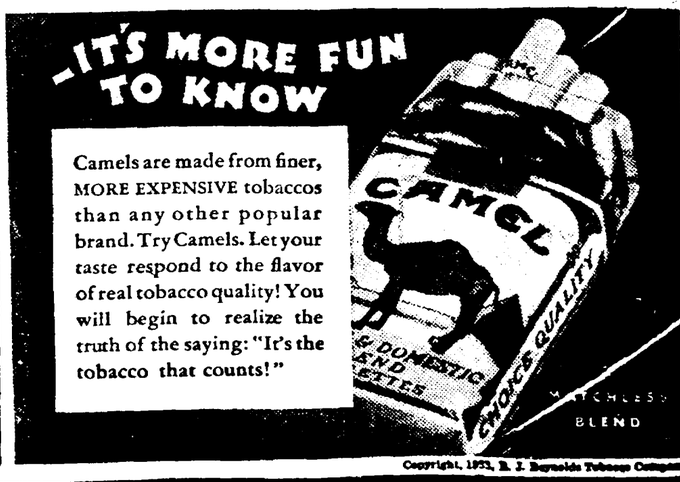
Tough Tongue Threads Razor Blades



LAST NIGHT I SAW A MAGICIAN SWALLOW A DOZEN RAZOR BLADES AND A PIECE OF THREAD. THEN HE PULLED OUT THE BLADES ALL THREADED! IMAGINE IT!
WHAT SHE SAW
HOW IN THE WORLD DOES HE DO IT, FRED?
THAT'S DONE ON THE PRINCIPLE OF THE OLD NEEDLE TRICK, MABEL—
HE HAS A SET OF VERY DULL BLADES ALL THREADED AND HIDDEN IN A SLOT IN THE SPOOL OF THREAD. HE PALMS THE FIRST SET OF BLADES AND PUTS THE THREADED BLADES IN HIS MOUTH.
1 EXCHANGING THE LOOSE BLADES FOR THE THREADED SET.
2 PALMING THE LOOSE BLADES.
3 THE BLADES HE REALLY PUTS IN HIS MOUTH ARE ALREADY THREADED.
AREN'T YOU CLEVER! WILL YOU HAVE A CIGARETTE?
I DON'T LIKE THE TASTE OF THAT KIND.

WHY NOT? THEY SAY MY KIND TASTES BETTER.
GOOD TASTE IN A CIGARETTE COMES FROM FINER, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS. THAT'S WHY I SMOKE CAMELS. TRY ONE.



—IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. Try Camels. Let your taste respond to the flavor of real tobacco quality! You will begin to realize the truth of the saying: "It's the tobacco that counts!"
